Air Force Plans Moon Probe Soon

Attempt Set For August, Officials Say

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The U.S. Air Force is planning to attempt its first lunar probe to the vicinity of the moon during the period next month when the moon is closest to earth, it was learned Friday.

Reliable sources said man's first attempt to send a vehicle to the moon—unless the Russians try to beat the U. S. to the punch—would be made from Cape Canaveral during the few days when the moon makes its monthly closest approach to the earth.

The moon, according to astronomers, will be closest to earth on Aug. 17 when the distance between the two bodies will be about 220,000 miles. At its greatest distance from earth the moon is about 250,000 miles away. The period Aug. 15-19 will be the critical time of closest approach.

The probe, a small package of instruments designed to telemeter moon data back to earth, perhaps even the first pictures of the other side of the moon never seen from earth, will take about two days for its journey. A crude, television-like "ground scanning" device for the probes has been under development at the China Lake, Calif., Naval Ordnance Test Station.

The probe vehicle will be sent on its journey with a three-stage rocket, the first two stages of which are the Thor-Able missile recently tested at Cape Canaveral. The third stage has been developed separately.

The Air Force Ballistic Missile Division here, which was assigned the lunar probe project earlier this year, has said only that the probes would be sent to "the vicinity of the moon."

'Boomerang' Possible

While the Air Force has thus declined to say whether it plans to try to hit the moon or to "boomerang" a probe around it, scientists who conducted feasibility studies on the project pointed out the first successful probe may involve sending a vehicle around the moon and back toward the earth. They explain such a "boomerang" shot is basically easier than scoring a hit.

The moon is in its "new' phase on Aug. 15 and cannot be seen by naked-eye observers. On Aug. 17 it will appear as a thin crescent visible anywhere on earth only for 1 to 2 ours shortly after sunset.

On Aug. 19, when the probe would arrive in the moon's vicinity, if it were shot Aug. 17, the moon will be in its quarter phase and visible up to about midnight.

Scientists also pointed out that if the Air Force planned to hit the moon with an object that would create a visible light signal, it would shoot for the dark side of a crescent moon.

Future King Of England Has Troubles

LONDON (AP) — A little boy glared at the future King of England and said, "Hey, Fatty, get off my foot." The future King of England, annoyed, let fly a few punches.

That is the story reported by the London News Chronicle today from the playing field of Cheam School, where 9-year-old Prince Charles is a student.

Plane Lands In Emergency; No One Hurt

HALIFAX, N.S., Saturday (UPI)—A Pan-American Airways plane with 45 persons aboard threw one of its four propellers while over the Atlantic and turned around and made an emergency landing early Saturday at Argentia, Newfoundland, after a tense, four-hour flight.

All aboard were safe, the Coast Guard reported.

The crippled DC7C, en route from New York to Lisbon, Portugal, developed engine trouble when it was 460 miles out, east of Cander, Newfoundland. It turned around and asked for all possible help at about 8:30 p.m. E.D.T.

Alert Issued

The Coast Guard issued an immediate all-area alert, and a Sabena airliner flying nearby went off its course and started to escort the craft back to Newfoundland at an altitude of 9,000 feet.

Four hours later, it made a preliminary pass at the Argentia airport and its pilot, Capt. Robert D. Postelwaite, said he had taken all emergency precautions for a possible crash landing.

But the plane settled down in easy fashion and the passengers were able to breathe easier.

Fire trucks and ambulances were standing by in case they were needed.

The plane, flying on a scheduled non-stop run, received help from the Coast Guard and the RCAF. An RCAF Lancaster plane from Tobay, Newfoundland, two B17 planes and two Coast Guard vessels, the Bibb and the Ingram, were rushed to the scene from the Boston and Norfolk, Va., areas.

Left turn traffic signals will be installed at two intersections on Louisville Avenue and west-bound motorists will be prohibited from making left turns at all other corners between Walnut and North Sixth streets, it was learned yesterday.

District Engineer Wayne H. Huckaby said the left-turn signals will be installed on a "trial basis" at the intersections of North Fourth and North Sixth streets.

The signals will allow motorists travelling toward West Monroe on Louisville to turn left for downtown Monroe at only N. 4th and N. 6th streets between Walnut and N. 8th streets.

Under this system, left turns for west-bound traffic off Louisville will be prohibited at the intersections of Walnut, N. 2nd, N. 3rd, N. 5th, N. 7th and N. 8th streets.

East-bound traffic on Louisville will be allowed to make left turns toward the north.

Mayor W. L. (Jack) Howard said the new system will be approved by the City Council at a meeting Tuesday and an ordinance will be passed.

Huckaby said the new lights will be installed "soon after" the ordinance becomes effective, which is 10 days after it is published in the legal journal. At present there are no left-turn signals.

The lights will be installed at the expense of the Louisiana Department of Highways.

But Huckaby pointed out, "This doesn't mean the left turns are being installed permanently. We're putting them in on a trial basis. If they don't work, we'll take them out."

Major Jack Davis, Police Department Traffic Division, said the new lights will eliminate traffic tie-ups "many motorists have experienced in trying to turn south off Louisville."

Huckaby said the system was designed after the Highway Department made studies of the problems on Louisville.

Wisner Merchant Files In Race For Empty Post

Chambley's announcement brought the field of candidates to four as the books for qualifying closed. The election will be August 23rd.

Other candidates are Mrs. Mabel Chachere, Crowville, Lantz Womack, Swampers, and Philip C. Montgomery, Winnsboro.

The vacancy was created by the death of the late Rep. Walter Chachere, who died of a heart attack shortly after the past Legislature convened.

His widow is a candidate for the post. Womack ran against Chachere in 1956 and Montgomery served in the House from 1948-52. Chambley ran for the Senate in 1956.

Mrs. W. A. Hatton, Registrar of Voters, said 5,196 persons are qualified to vote in the election.

Khrush Will Never See Real America

By J. M. ROBERTS
Associated Press News Analyst

There's nothing like New York City anywhere else in the world. It's a pity Nikita Khrushchev won't get to see it.

New York can't be seen in a brief visit, even by one who is not encircled by security agents and involved in laborious negotiations.

More regrettable is that Khrushchev will not be able to see the United States, of which New York is a manifestation.

New York has everything that the United States has. It is a great industrial center, yet its industry can hardly be found in the shadows of its office buildings and amid the great surrounding sea of dwellings.

Nearby are beautiful farms, but the highways are separated from them by their own rights-of-way and the planes fly too high.

In chamber-of-commerce America, it is natural to feel that if only Khrushchev could see the land, and the industries, and the people, that he would realize there is no need for communism, and that his dream of economic conquest is futile.

Khrushchev is a smart man. He has just outsmarted the free world's diplomats in the propaganda field.

Khrushchev is a man whose inquiring mind has largely made up for his lack of education.

But, even if a tour could be arranged, Khrushchev could not see America.

Even if security arrangements

Investigating Boat Collision Off E. Carroll

LAKE PROVIDENCE (Special) Adjusters were here yesterday investigating a river collision that caused at least $15,000 in damages.

Authorities said a federal towboat called "Harry S. Truman" en route to New Orleans collided with a dredge and four barges on the Mississippi River south of here.

The incident occurred early Wednesday morning when the towboat pushing nine barges loadmissed the main channel.

They said the boat entered what is known as the "Point Way" and rammed the dredge and barges close to shore.

Knowledge of the collision came to light when New Orleans adjusters arrived here yesterday.

The dredge, named "Mary Anne," and barges, owned by C. A. King, were loading sand and gravel. An empty barge was knocked ashore by the impact.

Sources said one man was slightly injured and damages done to the King crafts amounted to about $15,000.

There were reports that the federal towboat and barges were slightly damaged, but the extent of the damage was not known.

Adjusters didn't disclose their decisions in the investigation.

Authorities said the incident happened when the 8500-ton towboat failed to enter the main channel, which is lighted and marked, in the river.

The "Point Way" was dark when the collision occurred around 2:30 a.m.

Falling Block Fatally Injures Columbia Child

COLUMBIA (Special) — A nine-year-old girl died en route to a local hospital here yesterday after she was struck by a block of wood.

Dr. E. L. Carroll, Caldwell parish coroner, said Hazel Patton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Patton, Sr. of Columbia, died of chest injuries.

He said the child was playing on a lumber pile alone when the block of wood fell from a stack of boards and hit her.

Funeral services will be held today at 3 p.m. from the Columbia First Baptist Church with the Rev. Jimmy Bolton officiating

Interment will follow in the Welcome Home Cemetery under direction of Riser and Son Funeral Home.

Besides her parents, she is survived by four brothers, Sam, Jr., Jerry Wayne, Troy and Roy, all of home; two sisters, Linda and Barbara Jean; maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Abner Clark, Hebert; and a paternal grandmother, Mrs. Dona Patton, Columbia.

Pallbearers will be John B. Patton, Jonie Patton, Leroy Clark and Arvil Clark.

Truman Urges Backing Of Ike

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Former President Harry S. Truman urged the American people Friday to get behind President Eisenhower on the United States' stand in the Middle East crisis.

"You must remember that it is up to you to support the chief executive of the United States when he is working for the welfare and benefit of the people of the world," Truman said.

Ike Demands Broad Terms In Mid-East

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Eisenhower served notice Friday that if the Soviet request for a summit conference on the Middle East was to be met, the conference would have to deal with the broader problems of that troubled area.

In a new note to Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev, the President bluntly rejected Khrushchev's suggestion that any summit conference be limited to the Soviet complaints about Anglo-American troop movements in Lebanon and Jordan.

He said the securing of peace in the Middle East requires solution of the "far broader problems" which have plagued the area.

He also told Khrushchev it was up to the United Nations Security Council to decide the date, the participants, and the ground rules to govern any meeting of chiefs of government under its auspices.

Note Handed Menshikov

The president's 1,000-word note on the subject was handed to Soviet Ambassador Mikhail Menshikov by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles. It previously was shown to U.S. allies.

In making the contents of the letter available to the press, Press Secrteary James C. Hagerty said that "of course" the President would attend a summit meeting if a satisfactory arrangement could be set up by the Security Council. It was Hagerty's first statement to that effect.

The President indirectly suggested to Khrushchev that he abandon his practice of writing highly-publicized letters and allow the ambassadors at the United Nations to make the arrangements if he sincerely wants a meeting.

The President spiked any Khrushchev hope of turning a summit conference into a one-sided propaganda forum for renewing his charges of U.S. and British "aggression" in Lebanon and Jordan.

The President did not directly refer to repeated U.S. charges that the Soviet Union and its Arab followers have engaged in a long campaign to foment strife and revolutions in small pro-Western Middle Eastern nations.

Long-Range View Stressed

But he told Khrushchev that "I would be lacking in candor if I did not make clear that to put peace and security on a more stable basis in the Middle East requires far more than merely a

62-11 IS VOTE

Senate Passes Farm Measure

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate passed an administration-backed farm bill Friday night which would give Agriculture Secretary Ezra T. Benson some of the authority he wanted to reduce farm price support floors and ease federal planting curbs.

The roll call vote was 62 to 11 for the bill.

The action, which capped a three - day debate, was a triumph for Benson who less than six months ago was facing angry Republican demands that he resign from the Cabinet as a political liability. He promptly praised the measure.

His farm bloc critics in the Senate, badly beaten in repeated efforts to write higher price supports into the bill, salvaged only a series of amendments preserving the "fair price" parity principle in computing the lower price floor for cotton, corn and rice.

The measure would abolish all corn planting controls beginning next year and would head off sharp scheduled cuts in 1959 planting allotments for cotton and rice. It makes no mention of such major crops as wheat, tobacco, dairy products and peanuts.

Humphrey Makes Warning

Just before the vote, Sen. Hubert W. Humphrey (D-Minn.), a leader in the farm bloc, warned the Senate that "You are witnessing the final chapter in the breakdown of the great farm program. This is a repudiation of two party platforms. It will work a very serious injury. . .on the American economy."

The showdown found 37 Republicans and 25 Democrats, mostly Southerners, lined up for the bill. Opposed were 11 Democrats.

The legislation now goes to the House where farm bloc leaders already have announced they are working on a similar measure.

Benson, in a statement issued immediately after passage of the bill, said he was "pleased by the Senate's action. . .in approving a constructive Farm bill."

Benson said he hoped the House would now act quickly on the measure without "crippling amendments." He added that while the bill is not everything he sought, it is a "victory for sound principles" and a long stride to-

Miss Universe Title Sought At Long Beach

LONG BEACH, Calif. (UPI) — Fifteen international beauties, including Miss U.S.A. and the only representative of an Iron Curtain country, matched their generous assortment of feminine charms Friday night for the 1958 Miss Universe crown.

At stake was the right to the pageant's title of the "world's most beautiful woman" — plus $11,000 in cash, a convertible automobile and other prizes. Not the least of the rewards is the publicity received by the winner, who in past years has been often anxious for a movie career.

Excitement

The pageant was restored to its individual form of decorum after a flurry of excitement Thursday night when a $100,000 pearl was reported missing from the crown, valued by designer James B. Boutross at a million dollars. The pearl was found — somewhat ingloriously—in the drain of a wash basin.

Last year's Miss Universe, Gladys Zender of Peru, had reported the disappearance to police.

Miss U.S.A., Eurlyne Howell, and Miss Poland, Alicja Bobrowska, 22, the only girl to come from behind the Iron Curtain, were among the 15 that survived Thursday night's preliminary judging

The 18-year-old United States entry (36-23-35½), a cool, poised blonde, was a popular favorite to become Miss Universe. But she had stiff competition from Miss Germany, Marlies Behrens, 19, Miss Holland, Corine Rottschafer, 20, and others.

'LITTLE RED WAGON'

Youth Admits Spree Of 'Riding' Autos

A 15-year-old boy has admitted the thefts of nine automobiles, two motorscooters and a bicycle in less than a month, Monroe Police Chief James C. Kelly Jr. disclosed yesterday.

Included among the vehicles taken was "the little red wagon," a red Volkswagon, equipped with two-way radio, owned by J. O. (Red) Willet, Monroe.

Kelly said the teenager, who lives in Minden, explained that he took the cars "to ride around in."

Spree Outlined

1. He began July 3rd in Minden where he took a 1948 black Ford, rode around in it a few hours and abandoned it there.

2. On July 10, Kelly said the youngster came to visit friends in Monroe where he took a 1958 Ford in West Monroe. He later abandoned it on Erin Street where it was recovered by local police.

3. Eleven days later, the youth took a new car from the Ryan-Polk Chevrolet, rode around and left it in a beanfield on S. 23rd St. He then took a bicycle, rode it to the Holiday Inn on Louisville Avenue where he took a golfer's cart-type motorscooter and left it in the 200 block of Rochelle.

4. Kelly said the youth then took a 1957 Chevrolet from the Ryan-Polk used car lot, drove it to Willet's farm where he left it and took Willet's "little red wagon." That was Tuesday night. He

U.S. Not Involved In Battle

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI)—The bloodiest fighting since a U. S. Marine peace force landed here nearly two weeks ago erupted Friday night between opposition and government forces.

Unofficial reports said 14 persons were killed and another dozen wounded in the new violence. The incident did not in any way involve U. S. forces here, which now are 10,000 strong.

The fighting took place within a confined area near Al Khayad among closely grouped buildings. Hill, the highest in the city, among closely grouped buildings. Snipers and government troops engaged in shooting duels from neighboring roofs. The hill is held by the rebels.

The battle, strangely, did not attract much notice in Beirut despite the number of casualties and the possible significance of the flare-up. The people of Beirut appear inured to the sound of firing these days.

U.S., U.N. Officials Meet

Top American and Lebanese military and civil leaders conferred for almost three hours Friday on the role of American forces in Lebanon. Shortly afterwards, United States and United Nations officials had their first formal contact in a high-level conference.

The two conferences may mean much in future decisions on the mission and duties of American forces in Lebanon. The last of these forces flew into Beirut International Airport Friday night aboard the Globemaster shuttle run from Germany via Adana, Turkey.

They brought the American land force total to 10,000, of which roughly 4,000 are Army paratroopers and support troops and 6,000 are Marines. In addition some 60 ships of the U.S. Sixth Fleet are stationed off the Lebanese coast. And an Air Force fighter-bomber composite striking force is in Adana protecting the operation's northern flank.

Lebanese President Camille Chamoun was reported reliably Friday night to be considering creation of a broad coalition government to end the continuing internal crisis.

Lebanese Reb Leader Deals Blow To Peace

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — The rebel leader in Beirut dealt a stiff blow Friday to rising hopes that peace might return to this troubled little Mideast nation next week.

Saeb Salam declared his rebels will not permit Parliament to name a president as long as pro-Western President Camille Chamoun is in power, and foreign troops remain in Lebanon.

Parliament is scheduled to meet next Thursday to name Chamoun's successor. Hopes had risen high that a candidate acceptable to both sides would be named, thus ending the long and bloody uprising.

Says No Election

"The Lebanese revolution will not permit the holding of any presidential election in the shadow of tanks, planes and fleets of foreign troops," Salam told correspondents.

The Lebanese Assn. of Industrialists was equally adamant on the other side. It called for a three-day shutdown of industry and

Knowledge of the collision came to light when New Orleans adjusters arrived here yesterday.

The dredge, named "Mary Anne," and barges, owned by C. A. King, were loading sand and gravel. An empty barge was knocked ashore by the impact.

Sources said one man was slightly injured and damages done to the King crafts amounted to about $15,000.

There were reports that the federal towboat and barges were slightly damaged, but the extent of the damage was not known.

Adjusters didn't disclose their decisions in the investigation.

Authorities said the incident happened when the 8500-ton towboat failed to enter the main channel, which is lighted and marked, in the river.

The "Point Way" was dark when the collision occurred around 2:30 a.m.

Wisner Merchant Files In Race For Empty Post

Chambley's announcement brought the field of candidates to four as the books for qualifying closed. The election will be August 23rd.

Other candidates are Mrs. Mabel Chachere, Crowville, Lantz Womack, Swampers, and Philip C. Montgomery, Winnsboro.

Mrs. W. A. Hatton, Registrar of Voters, said 5,196 persons are qualified to vote in the election.

Khrush Will Never See Real America

By J. M. ROBERTS
Associated Press News Analyst

There's nothing like New York City anywhere else in the world. It's a pity Nikita Khrushchev won't get to see it.

New York can't be seen in a brief visit, even by one who is not encircled by security agents and involved in laborious negotiations.

More regrettable is that Khrushchev will not be able to see the United States, of which New York is a manifestation.

New York has everything that the United States has. It is a great industrial center, yet its industry can hardly be found in the shadows of its office buildings and amid the great surrounding sea of dwellings.

Nearby are beautiful farms, but the highways are separated from them by their own rights-of-way and the planes fly too high.

In chamber-of-commerce America, it is natural to feel that if only Khrushchev could see the land, and the industries, and the people, that he would realize there is no need for communism, and that his dream of economic conquest is futile.

Khrushchev is a smart man. He has just outsmarted the free world's diplomats in the propaganda field.

Khrushchev is a man whose inquiring mind has largely made up for his lack of education.

But, even if a tour could be arranged, Khrushchev could not see America.

Even if security arrangements

Truman Urges Backing Of Ike

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Former President Harry S. Truman urged the American people Friday to get behind President Eisenhower on the United States' stand in the Middle East crisis.

"You must remember that it is up to you to support the chief executive of the United States when he is working for the welfare and benefit of the people of the world," Truman said.

Ike Demands Broad Terms In Mid-East

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Eisenhower served notice Friday that if the Soviet request for a summit conference on the Middle East was to be met, the conference would have to deal with the broader problems of that troubled area.

In a new note to Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev, the President bluntly rejected Khrushchev's suggestion that any summit conference be limited to the Soviet complaints about Anglo-American troop movements in Lebanon and Jordan.

He said the securing of peace in the Middle East requires solution of the "far broader problems" which have plagued the area.

He also told Khrushchev it was up to the United Nations Security Council to decide the date, the participants, and the ground rules to govern any meeting of chiefs of government under its auspices.

Note Handed Menshikov

The president's 1,000-word note on the subject was handed to Soviet Ambassador Mikhail Menshikov by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles. It previously was shown to U.S. allies.

In making the contents of the letter available to the press, Press Secrteary James C. Hagerty said that "of course" the President would attend a summit meeting if a satisfactory arrangement could be set up by the Security Council. It was Hagerty's first statement to that effect.

The President indirectly suggested to Khrushchev that he abandon his practice of writing highly-publicized letters and allow the ambassadors at the United Nations to make the arrangements if he sincerely wants a meeting.

The President spiked any Khrushchev hope of turning a summit conference into a one-sided propaganda forum for renewing his charges of U.S. and British "aggression" in Lebanon and Jordan.

The President did not directly refer to repeated U.S. charges that the Soviet Union and its Arab followers have engaged in a long campaign to foment strife and revolutions in small pro-Western Middle Eastern nations.

Long-Range View Stressed

But he told Khrushchev that "I would be lacking in candor if I did not make clear that to put peace and security on a more stable basis in the Middle East requires far more than merely a

62-11 IS VOTE

Senate Passes Farm Measure

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate passed an administration-backed farm bill Friday night which would give Agriculture Secretary Ezra T. Benson some of the authority he wanted to reduce farm price support floors and ease federal planting curbs.

The roll call vote was 62 to 11 for the bill.

The action, which capped a three - day debate, was a triumph for Benson who less than six months ago was facing angry Republican demands that he resign from the Cabinet as a political liability. He promptly praised the measure.

His farm bloc critics in the Senate, badly beaten in repeated efforts to write higher price supports into the bill, salvaged only a series of amendments preserving the "fair price" parity principle in computing the lower price floor for cotton, corn and rice.

The measure would abolish all corn planting controls beginning next year and would head off sharp scheduled cuts in 1959 planting allotments for cotton and rice. It makes no mention of such major crops as wheat, tobacco, dairy products and peanuts.

Humphrey Makes Warning

Just before the vote, Sen. Hubert W. Humphrey (D-Minn.), a leader in the farm bloc, warned the Senate that "You are witnessing the final chapter in the breakdown of the great farm program. This is a repudiation of two party platforms. It will work a very serious injury. . .on the American economy."

The showdown found 37 Republicans and 25 Democrats, mostly Southerners, lined up for the bill. Opposed were 11 Democrats.

The legislation now goes to the House where farm bloc leaders already have announced they are working on a similar measure.

Benson, in a statement issued immediately after passage of the bill, said he was "pleased by the Senate's action. . .in approving a constructive Farm bill."

Benson said he hoped the House would now act quickly on the measure without "crippling amendments." He added that while the bill is not everything he sought, it is a "victory for sound principles" and a long stride to-

Miss Universe Title Sought At Long Beach

LONG BEACH, Calif. (UPI) — Fifteen international beauties, including Miss U.S.A. and the only representative of an Iron Curtain country, matched their generous assortment of feminine charms Friday night for the 1958 Miss Universe crown.

At stake was the right to the pageant's title of the "world's most beautiful woman" — plus $11,000 in cash, a convertible automobile and other prizes. Not the least of the rewards is the publicity received by the winner, who in past years has been often anxious for a movie career.

Excitement

The pageant was restored to its individual form of decorum after a flurry of excitement Thursday night when a $100,000 pearl was reported missing from the crown, valued by designer James B. Boutross at a million dollars. The pearl was found — somewhat ingloriously—in the drain of a wash basin.

Last year's Miss Universe, Gladys Zender of Peru, had reported the disappearance to police.

Miss U.S.A., Eurlyne Howell, and Miss Poland, Alicja Bobrowska, 22, the only girl to come from behind the Iron Curtain, were among the 15 that survived Thursday night's preliminary judging

The 18-year-old United States entry (36-23-35½), a cool, poised blonde, was a popular favorite to become Miss Universe. But she had stiff competition from Miss Germany, Marlies Behrens, 19, Miss Holland, Corine Rottschafer, 20, and others.

'LITTLE RED WAGON'

Youth Admits Spree Of 'Riding' Autos

A 15-year-old boy has admitted the thefts of nine automobiles, two motorscooters and a bicycle in less than a month, Monroe Police Chief James C. Kelly Jr. disclosed yesterday.

Included among the vehicles taken was "the little red wagon," a red Volkswagon, equipped with two-way radio, owned by J. O. (Red) Willet, Monroe.

Kelly said the teenager, who lives in Minden, explained that he took the cars "to ride around in."

Spree Outlined

1. He began July 3rd in Minden where he took a 1948 black Ford, rode around in it a few hours and abandoned it there.

2. On July 10, Kelly said the youngster came to visit friends in Monroe where he took a 1958 Ford in West Monroe. He later abandoned it on Erin Street where it was recovered by local police.

3. Eleven days later, the youth took a new car from the Ryan-Polk Chevrolet, rode around and left it in a beanfield on S. 23rd St. He then took a bicycle, rode it to the Holiday Inn on Louisville Avenue where he took a golfer's cart-type motorscooter and left it in the 200 block of Rochelle.

4. Kelly said the youth then took a 1957 Chevrolet from the Ryan-Polk used car lot, drove it to Willet's farm where he left it and took Willet's "little red wagon." That was Tuesday night. He

U.S. Not Involved In Battle

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI)—The bloodiest fighting since a U. S. Marine peace force landed here nearly two weeks ago erupted Friday night between opposition and government forces.

Unofficial reports said 14 persons were killed and another dozen wounded in the new violence. The incident did not in any way involve U. S. forces here, which now are 10,000 strong.

The fighting took place within a confined area near Al Khayad among closely grouped buildings. Hill, the highest in the city, among closely grouped buildings. Snipers and government troops engaged in shooting duels from neighboring roofs. The hill is held by the rebels.

The battle, strangely, did not attract much notice in Beirut despite the number of casualties and the possible significance of the flare-up. The people of Beirut appear inured to the sound of firing these days.

U.S., U.N. Officials Meet

Top American and Lebanese military and civil leaders conferred for almost three hours Friday on the role of American forces in Lebanon. Shortly afterwards, United States and United Nations officials had their first formal contact in a high-level conference.

The two conferences may mean much in future decisions on the mission and duties of American forces in Lebanon. The last of these forces flew into Beirut International Airport Friday night aboard the Globemaster shuttle run from Germany via Adana, Turkey.

They brought the American land force total to 10,000, of which roughly 4,000 are Army paratroopers and support troops and 6,000 are Marines. In addition some 60 ships of the U.S. Sixth Fleet are stationed off the Lebanese coast. And an Air Force fighter-bomber composite striking force is in Adana protecting the operation's northern flank.

Coalition Government Considered

Lebanese President Camille Chamoun was reported reliably Friday night to be considering creation of a broad coalition government to end the continuing internal crisis.

Lebanese Reb Leader Deals Blow To Peace

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — The rebel leader in Beirut dealt a stiff blow Friday to rising hopes that peace might return to this troubled little Mideast nation next week.

Saeb Salam declared his rebels will not permit Parliament to name a president as long as pro-Western President Camille Chamoun is in power, and foreign troops remain in Lebanon.

Parliament is scheduled to meet next Thursday to name Chamoun's successor. Hopes had risen high that a candidate acceptable to both sides would be named, thus ending the long and bloody uprising.

Says No Election

"The Lebanese revolution will not permit the holding of any presidential election in the shadow of tanks, planes and fleets of foreign troops," Salam told correspondents.

Th Lebanese Assn. of Industrialists was equally adamant on the other side. It called for a three-day shutdown of industry and

"When are you going on vacation?," Howard was queried.

"I'm not — there's too much work around here to leave for two weeks," he answered.

SEN. JOHNSON

Defense Charge Made By Solon

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson bluntly told Defense Secretary Neil H. McElroy Friday that "excellent" plans are no substitute in these critical times for bombs, missiles and satellites.

The Texan, chairman of the Senate preparedness subcommittee, levelled the charge as McElroy appeared before the group to present secret data designed to counter Johnson's earlier charge that the Pentagon lacks a "sense of urgency."

Johnson told reporters after the closed-door session that "I have not changed the view which I expressed yesterday.

Progress Conceded

He issued another statement later, however, conceding there had been some progress in the defense program—"much of which is substantial"—in the face of Russia's space challenge and the Middle East crisis.

"But if Rome had been built at the same rate of speed," Johnson added, "the streets still would be unpaved."

Noting that "plans are no substitute for military hardware and trained men," the Democratic leader said the subcommittee would feel better if there were a "greater desire" to produce "a preparedness program second to none" and not just to catch up with Russia.

Urgency Lacking

McElroy, who has been briefing the senators on the defense drive, asked for permission to present the secret data after Johnson lambasted the department Thursday for failing to have a "feeling of grim urgency."

Although the hearing was closed to newsmen, Johnson made public the text of his opening statement to the defense secretary. In it, he said his complaints centered on the lack of accomplished facts.

West Monroe Police reported Paul Carter, 18, had walked off from a work detail wearing coveralls with "West Monroe" printed on the back. He lives in West Monroe.

Another Paul, Benson this time, walked off from the Monroe jail, according to Chief James C. Kelly. Benson is described as being six feet tall, 30-years-old and having a dark complexion.

Both men escaped Wednesday.

Judge Jones Is Lonesome In City Court

"It sure was lonesome in court," the Judge said.

Not a single defendant appeared to explain his offense to West Monroe City Court Judge Jasper E. Jones yesterday.

Five traffic bonds and one for disturbing the peace, totalling $157.50, were collected from absent offenders.

Fourteen persons appeared before Judge W. M. Harper in State Court to answer charges ranging from aggravated assault to illegal parking.

Judge Harper took both cases under advisement until August 9.

Speeding resulted in a fine of $35 for Raymond O. Scott, while Fred A. Black, Norman L. Tressner and Jimmie Milton Lee were each fined $25 for the offense.

Pleading guilty to driving with improper lights were Isaac Edwards, Negro, fined $10.00 and Carl Blair Jr., fined $5.

A suspended sentence of $25 fine or 15 days in jail was levied on Sampson Terrell, who pled guilty to reckless driving on July 4.

A haywagon drawn by two mules and carrying 23 teenagers was hit in the rear by a pick-up truck late last night, slightly injuring three girls.

According to Sibyl Alford, 17, one of the victims, the wagon was traveling slowly down Wilson Street on the way to Bernstein Park for a watermelon party. Almost all the teenagers were thrown from the wagon by the force of the collision, she said.

Charlotte Salley and Patsy Carr, along with Miss Alford were being treated for bruises at the St. Francis Hospital last night. None of the others were injured, according to a member of the group.

Vacations Rare If You Are Mayor Of City

W. L. (Jack) Howard, mayor of Monroe, hasn't had a vacation for two years.

He mentioned that he and the Howard family are going to spend a few days away from Monroe next week.

"Are you going on vacation?," he was asked.

"No," replied the mayor, "just getting away for two or three days."

"When are you going on vacation?," Howard was queried.

"I'm not — there's too much work around here to leave for two weeks," he answered.

SEN. JOHNSON

Defense Charge Made By Solon

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson bluntly told Defense Secretary Neil H. McElroy Friday that "excellent" plans are no substitute in these critical times for bombs, missiles and satellites.

The Texan, chairman of the Senate preparedness subcommittee, levelled the charge as McElroy appeared before the group to present secret data designed to counter Johnson's earlier charge that the Pentagon lacks a "sense of urgency."

Johnson told reporters after the closed-door session that "I have not changed the view which I expressed yesterday.

Progress Conceded

He issued another statement later, however, conceding there had been some progress in the defense program—"much of which is substantial"—in the face of Russia's space challenge and the Middle East crisis.

"But if Rome had been built at the same rate of speed," Johnson added, "the streets still would be unpaved."

Noting that "plans are no substitute for military hardware and trained men," the Democratic leader said the subcommittee would feel better if there were a "greater desire" to produce "a preparedness program second to none" and not just to catch up with Russia.

Urgency Lacking

McElroy, who has been briefing the senators on the defense drive, asked for permission to present the secret data after Johnson lambasted the department Thursday for failing to have a "feeling of grim urgency."

Although the hearing was closed to newsmen, Johnson made public the text of his opening statement to the defense secretary. In it, he said his complaints centered on the lack of accomplished facts.

Senate Passes Farm Measure

The secretary added that the Senate bill would give cotton farmers expanded markets, head off the reduction in rice acreage and provide a "firm and reasonable program for feed grain growers."

Major provisions of the bill:

—For corn, all federal planting controls would be dropped beginning in 1959. Price supports would be based on 90 per cent of average open market prices for the previous three years but could not drop below $1.10 a bushel or 60 per cent of parity, whichever was higher. Supports for other feed grains would range between 60 and 90 per cent of parity—the first time federal law has provided a floor for these grains.

—For cotton, a drastic cut in acreage allotments from about 17,600,000 acres this year to possibly 14,000,000 acres next year would be forestalled. In 1959 and 1960, the minimum allotment would be 16,000,000 acres and supports would be calculated under terms of present law. There would be no acreage cuts, however, for any farmer with a 1958 allotment of 10 acres or less.

U.S. Not Involved In Battle

Diplomatic sources said Chamoun has told U. S. Depty Undersecretary of State Robert D. Murphy that he wants parliament to reach agreement on one man before start of the election scheduled in the 66-member body next Thursday.

Chamoun is prepared, it was said, to disappear quietly from the scene following a satisfactory political solution. The diplomatic sources said Chamoun is counseling his zealous parliamentary followers to elect a neutral man to avoid further deepening of the schism that has split the country into two rival political camps.

Foreign Policy At Stake

Chamoun's only further demand was that his foreign policy alliance with the West remain unchanged. But opposition leaders want foreign policy shifted away from the West and closer to what they consider a Nasser-style positive neutrality.

A rooftop sniper fired three quick shots into a Marine command post here Thursday night. An American officer said it was an attempt to create an incident by making the Marines fire back and perhaps hit some innocent person. The Marines have strict orders to hold their fire except in the direct necessity of defense.

(In Washington, a top U. S. official at the United Nations said that American troops may be withdrawn from Lebanon "quite soon" providing next week's election goes off smoothly. James J. Wadsworth, deputy U. S. representative to the U. N., told a congressional subcommittee that when the U. S. force of more than 9,000 leaves, "we will have proved that we are a people of our word.")

Little Fighting

On the military front, the nation was still calm, although the opposition press reported one person killed here and three in Tripoli in sporadic clashes. Since the Marines landed, this country has known one of the quietest stretches since the rebellion began following the assassination of a left wing newspaper editor on May 8.

The so-called French Neutrality Plan calling for maintaining the present territorial integrity in the Middle East has been attracting growing attention. Chamoun was reported to have asked Murphy for some long-range guarantee of Lebanon's territory.

Opposition leader Saeb Salam Friday bitterly criticized U. S. Ambassador Robert McClintock for a press conference statement that "the opposition, if it came to power, would be a danger to the U. S."

"I deeply regret," Salam said, "that the statement of the ambassador should be made in this critical period. One of the principal causes of the Lebanese crisis has been interference at the hands of the American and British embassies.

KHRUSHCHEV VS. MARX

EAST LANSING, Mich. — (UPI) — A political scientist at Michigan State University believes the Kremlin would purge Karl Marx if he were living in Russia today. Dr. Alfred G. Meyer said Marx wouldn't be able to reconcile himself to the Soviet Union's political tyranny.

Probe Theft Of Whisky At Grayson

GRAYSON — (Special) — The theft of approximately $2,500 worth of whisky from the Joy Hill bar near here is being probed by officials of the Columbia Parish Sheriff's Department. Two white men are being sought for questioning.

Deputy Sheriff J. A. McNewmar said Alvin Crockett reported the loss of the whiskey after his establishment was broken into Thursday night.

Crockett told officials that he sighted the two men in a car behind the building, around 9 p.m. Thursday, gave chase when they roared off in a late model car, but lost them at Grayson, four miles north of the burglary site.

A hasp and lock had been pried off the back door of the building, while Crockett was out between 8:30 and 9 p.m. after closing the bar for the night.

He returned to the place and sighted a car parked at the rear, went around to investigate, then pursued the car without knowing for certain if his building had been entered.

At Grayson, he turned around, drove back, and then discovered the loss. About $500 worth of whisky was untouched. The thieves obtained several different kinds of whisky.

Earlier this month, the nearby Charles Bar was burglarized, and $1500 worth of liquor was taken.

Truck Rams Into Building At Columbia

COLUMBIA (Special) — A truck loaded with asphalt crashed into a building here yesterday, caused at least $5,000 in damages and left the driver hospitalized.

The truck rammed the building after sideswiping another vehicle, Town Marshall S. F. Hodges said. "Hospitalized was driver Aubrey Bruce, 43, of Pineville. Doctors said he was burned from the waist up by hot asphalt. His condition was described as not serious.

Hodges said the accident occurred when the brakes on the truck failed. He said the vehicle roared down a hill in town.

"He was honking his horn," Hodges said.

The vehicle sideswiped a grocery truck driven by W. C. Kelly of Hebert before crashing into the Crystal Ice Company building.

Kelly escaped with minor cuts and bruises. The asphalt truck turned over, knocked a hole in the building and was demolished.

Damages to the building alone ran to $5,000. The grocery truck was badly damaged. Bruce was rushed to the hospital.

Lebanese Reb Leader Deals Blow To Peace

A spokesman for the association said a meeting of the group decided to begin the shutdown Aug. 1

"During the three-day shutdown the association will meet again to decide on a future course of action," the spokesman said.

The industrialists want a new president elected to end the crisis that has badly damaged Lebanon's economic life. The shutdown would throw thousands out of work, deepening the depression already gripping the country.

Conceivably, Parliament could meet despite Salam's threats. He is holed up in the Moslem quarter, surrounded by government security forces.

But it is generally assumed the election will be called off unless there is a prior agreement between the government and its enemies on a compromise candidate.

U.S. Undersecretary of State Robert Murphy, sent to Beirut from Washington as a troubleshooter, has been seeing leaders on both sides, reportedly in an attempt to help find a candidate.

There was a possibility Murphy might go to Cairo from Beirut. Reports from Cairo said this might have been one topic brought up when U.S. Ambassador Raymond Hare was called in by Undersecretary Hussein Aziz of the United Arab Republic.

Khrush Will Never See Real America

Even if he could visit the farmers he could not see their traditional independence, although he might understand a little of what they have done to the great plains in the last 100 years, for he has dreams of his own in that field.

But his dreams have not prepared him for really seeing America. For America is not steel mills and mines, and manufacturing plants, nor workers, farmers, clerks and professionals.

America is not something which can be seen until it has been felt.

The farms are dirt, manufacturing is nuts and bolts, men are human beings. But America is humanity.

Six Negroes Hurt Slightly In Collision

BASTROP (Special) — Six Negroes heading for an all day fishing trip were slightly injured here yesterday when the pick up truck in which they were riding collided with a large trailer truck carrying a load of lumber.

Police authorities said the pickup, driven by Araif Craig, was parked on highway 165 heading west. As the trailer truck was passing them, police said, the pickup attempted to turn onto highway and collided with the trailer.

The force of the collision turned the pickup over, throwing several of the Negroes out. The driver of the larger truck, Miller Hopson, was not injured.

Hospitalized at Morehouse General Hospital were Araif Craig, Mary Lee Craig, Adeline Johnson, Timmy Burton, Occie Miller and Freddie Murphy, all of Bastrop.

Police officials said charges had been filed in the incident, but no details could be determined late last night.

The light system now being used on Louisville was installed by the Highway Department at a cost of approximately $16,000.

The Highway Department also has called for a new signal system at the Louisville - DeSiard Road intersection in College Town.

But Huckaby said the weather has prevented contractors from completing the job. Contracts have been let.

Youth Admits Auto Riding Spree Here

5. The next night the teenager took a white and brown new Chevrolet from the Alvis Hotel parking lot, cruised to the Holiday Inn and got into a green and white 1958 Chevrolet. He drove it to the 400 block of Erin and parked it in the same driveway where he had abandoned the Volkswagon.

6. Kelly said the youth was returned to Minden Wednesday. Thursday afternoon he took a red motorscooter in Minden, drove around a while and abandoned it in favor of a Pontiac. He drove to Ruston, where he took a '54 Ford.

7. According to Kelly, the teenager drove on to Monroe. He was apprehended here in the 400 block of Erin Thursday night.

Kelly said the youth has been turned over to juvenile authorities.

The situations are but isolated manifestations of far broader problems," he said. "In my opinion, the instability of peace and security is in large measure due to the jeopardy in which small nations are placed."

If a summit meeting is held, he said, the United States will discuss Lebanon and Jordan with the "broad concept" of the troubles of that entire area.

"To do otherwise," he said, "would be to be blind to the teaching of history."

The President recalled he told Khrushchev last Tuesday that this country would be willing to participate in a U.N. summit conference on the Middle East "if such a meeting were generally desired."

Khrushchev replied on Wednesday that he would like to begin such a meeting next Monday. He proposed that India and representatives of the Arab nations be invited to participate.

The President made it plain in his latest note that he was in no hurry to rush into a summit meeting with the Soviet leader.

Members' Poll Proposed

He said it was "not yet certain that such a meeting is in fact 'generally desired,' although that may prove to be the case." He proposed that the Security Council poll its members on whether "a meeting of the kind and under the conditions I suggest is generally acceptable."

"If so, they should also agree upon a date which would be generally satisfactory," he added. But he said flatly that next Monday "would be too early for us."

As for Khrushchev's suggestion that India and Arab representatives participate, Eisenhower said the council itself has rules under which non - member nations may participate in its deliberations.

"It is my earnest hope," the President said, "that through the United Nations Security Council steps can be taken in regard to the Middle East which, by making peace more secure there will help to promote it elsewherre."

He told Khrushchev he had instructed Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., U. S. ambassador to the United Nations, to work with U. N. Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold in polling council members about a summit meeting.

Note Welcomed In London

British Prime Minster Harold Macmillan already had said he is willing to attend a summit meeting. In London the British government said it "welcomes" the President's latest note on the subject and that the British "were fully consulted on its terms."

In Paris, Premier Charles de Gaulle held urgent conferences with his cabinet about whether he should attend the New York meeting. He has agreed to a summit meeting in principle, but has been reluctant to attend a session in New York.

American officials said one test of Soviet intentions would hinge on Khrushchev's reaction to the President's suggestion that he allow the regular U. N. ambassadors to make arrangements for the proposed summit meeting.

They said Khrushchev would cast doubt on his sincerity in seeking a conference of chiefs of government if he persisted in exchanging propaganda-style letters with the Western nations.

A hasp and lock had been pried off the back door of the building, while Crockett was out between 8:30 and 9 p.m. after closing the bar for the night.

He returned to the place and sighted a car parked at the rear, went around to investigate, then pursued the car without knowing for certain if his building had been entered.

At Grayson, he turned around, drove back, and then discovered the loss. About $500 worth of whisky was untouched. The thieves obtained several different kinds of whisky.

Earlier this month, the nearby Charles Bar was burglarized, and $1500 worth of liquor was taken.

U.S. Not Involved In Battle

Diplomatic sources said Chamoun has told U. S. Depty Undersecretary of State Robert D. Murphy that he wants parliament to reach agreement on one man before start of the election scheduled in the 66-member body next Thursday.

Chamoun is prepared, it was said, to disappear quietly from the scene following a satisfactory political solution. The diplomatic sources said Chamoun is counseling his zealous parliamentary followers to elect a neutral man to avoid further deepening of the schism that has split the country into two rival political camps.

Foreign Policy At Stake

Chamoun's only further demand was that his foreign policy alliance with the West remain unchanged. But opposition leaders want foreign policy shifted away from the West and closer to what they consider a Nasser-style positive neutrality.

A rooftop sniper fired three quick shots into a Marine command post here Thursday night. An American officer said it was an attempt to create an incident by making the Marines fire back and perhaps hit some innocent person. The Marines have strict orders to hold their fire except in the direct necessity of defense.

(In Washington, a top U. S. official at the United Nations said that American troops may be withdrawn from Lebanon "quite soon" providing next week's election goes off smoothly. James J. Wadsworth, deputy U. S. representative to the U. N., told a congressional subcommittee that when the U. S. force of more than 9,000 leaves, "we will have proved that we are a people of our word.")

Little Fighting

On the military front, the nation was still calm, although the opposition press reported one person killed here and three in Tripoli in sporadic clashes. Since the Marines landed, this country has known one of the quietest stretches since the rebellion began following the assassination of a left wing newspaper editor on May 8.

The so-called French Neutrality Plan calling for maintaining the present territorial integrity in the Middle East has been attracting growing attention. Chamoun was reported to have asked Murphy for some long-range guarantee of Lebanon's territory.

Opposition leader Saeb Salam Friday bitterly criticized U. S. Ambassador Robert McClintock for a press conference statement that "the opposition, if it came to power, would be a danger to the U. S."

"I deeply regret," Salam said, "that the statement of the ambassador should be made in this critical period. One of the principal causes of the Lebanese crisis has been interference at the hands of the American and British embassies.

KHRUSHCHEV VS. MARX

EAST LANSING, Mich. — (UPI) — A political scientist at Michigan State University believes the Kremlin would purge Karl Marx if he were living in Russia today. Dr. Alfred G. Meyer said Marx wouldn't be able to reconcile himself to the Soviet Union's political tyranny.

Truck Rams Into Building At Columbia

COLUMBIA (Special) — A truck loaded with asphalt crashed into a building here yesterday, caused at least $5,000 in damages and left the driver hospitalized.

The truck rammed the building after sideswiping another vehicle, Town Marshall S. F. Hodges said. "Hospitalized was driver Aubrey Bruce, 43, of Pineville. Doctors said he was burned from the waist up by hot asphalt. His condition was described as not serious.

Hodges said the accident occurred when the brakes on the truck failed. He said the vehicle roared down a hill in town.

"He was honking his horn," Hodges said.

The vehicle sideswiped a grocery truck driven by W. C. Kelly of Hebert before crashing into the Crystal Ice Company building.

Kelly escaped with minor cuts and bruises. The asphalt truck turned over, knocked a hole in the building and was demolished.

Damages to the building alone ran to $5,000. The grocery truck was badly damaged. Bruce was rushed to the hospital.

Lebanese Reb Leader Deals Blow To Peace

A spokesman for the association said a meeting of the group decided to begin the shutdown Aug. 1

"During the three-day shutdown the association will meet again to decide on a future course of action," the spokesman said.

The industrialists want a new president elected to end the crisis that has badly damaged Lebanon's economic life. The shutdown would throw thousands out of work, deepening the depression already gripping the country.

Conceivably, Parliament could meet despite Salam's threats. He is holed up in the Moslem quarter, surrounded by government security forces.

But it is generally assumed the election will be called off unless there is a prior agreement between the government and its enemies on a compromise candidate.

U.S. Undersecretary of State Robert Murphy, sent to Beirut from Washington as a troubleshooter, has been seeing leaders on both sides, reportedly in an attempt to help find a candidate.

There was a possibility Murphy might go to Cairo from Beirut. Reports from Cairo said this might have been one topic brought up when U.S. Ambassador Raymond Hare was called in by Undersecretary Hussein Aziz of the United Arab Republic.

Khrush Will Never See Real America

Even if he could visit the farmers he could not see their traditional independence, although he might understand a little of what they have done to the great plains in the last 100 years, for he has dreams of his own in that field.

But his dreams have not prepared him for really seeing America. For America is not steel mills and mines, and manufacturing plants, nor workers, farmers, clerks and professionals.

America is not something which can be seen until it has been felt.

The farms are dirt, manufacturing is nuts and bolts, men are human beings. But America is humanity.

Six Negroes Hurt Slightly In Collision

BASTROP (Special) — Six Negroes heading for an all day fishing trip were slightly injured here yesterday when the pick up truck in which they were riding collided with a large trailer truck carrying a load of lumber.

Police authorities said the pickup, driven by Araif Craig, was parked on highway 165 heading west. As the trailer truck was passing them, police said, the pickup attempted to turn onto highway and collided with the trailer.

The force of the collision turned the pickup over, throwing several of the Negroes out. The driver of the larger truck, Miller Hopson, was not injured.

Hospitalized at Morehouse General Hospital were Araif Craig, Mary Lee Craig, Adeline Johnson, Timmy Burton, Occie Miller and Freddie Murphy, all of Bastrop.

Police officials said charges had been filed in the incident, but no details could be determined late last night.

The light system now being used on Louisville was installed by the Highway Department at a cost of approximately $16,000.

The Highway Department also has called for a new signal system at the Louisville - DeSiard Road intersection in College Town.

But Huckaby said the weather has prevented contractors from completing the job. Contracts have been let.

5. The next night the teenager took a white and brown new Chevrolet from the Alvis Hotel parking lot, cruised to the Holiday Inn and got into a green and white 1958 Chevrolet. He drove it to the 400 block of Erin and parked it in the same driveway where he had abandoned the Volkswagon.

6. Kelly said the youth was returned to Minden Wednesday. Thursday afternoon he took a red motorscooter in Minden, drove around a while and abandoned it in favor of a Pontiac. He drove to Ruston, where he took a '54 Ford.

7. According to Kelly, the teenager drove on to Monroe. He was apprehended here in the 400 block of Erin Thursday night.

Kelly said the youth has been turned over to juvenile authorities.

The situations are but isolated manifestations of far broader problems," he said. "In my opinion, the instability of peace and security is in large measure due to the jeopardy in which small nations are placed."

If a summit meeting is held, he said, the United States will discuss Lebanon and Jordan with the "broad concept" of the troubles of that entire area.

"To do otherwise," he said, "would be to be blind to the teaching of history."

The President recalled he told Khrushchev last Tuesday that this country would be willing to participate in a U.N. summit conference on the Middle East "if such a meeting were generally desired."

Khrushchev replied on Wednesday that he would like to begin such a meeting next Monday. He proposed that India and representatives of the Arab nations be invited to participate.

The President made it plain in his latest note that he was in no hurry to rush into a summit meeting with the Soviet leader.

Members' Poll Proposed

He said it was "not yet certain that such a meeting is in fact 'generally desired,' although that may prove to be the case." He proposed that the Security Council poll its members on whether "a meeting of the kind and under the conditions I suggest is generally acceptable."

"If so, they should also agree upon a date which would be generally satisfactory," he added. But he said flatly that next Monday "would be too early for us."

As for Khrushchev's suggestion that India and Arab representatives participate, Eisenhower said the council itself has rules under which non - member nations may participate in its deliberations.

"It is my earnest hope," the President said, "that through the United Nations Security Council steps can be taken in regard to the Middle East which, by making peace more secure there will help to promote it elsewherre."

He told Khrushchev he had instructed Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., U. S. ambassador to the United Nations, to work with U. N. Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold in polling council members about a summit meeting.

Note Welcomed In London

British Prime Minster Harold Macmillan already had said he is willing to attend a summit meeting. In London the British government said it "welcomes" the President's latest note on the subject and that the British "were fully consulted on its terms."

In Paris, Premier Charles de Gaulle held urgent conferences with his cabinet about whether he should attend the New York meeting. He has agreed to a summit meeting in principle, but has been reluctant to attend a session in New York.

American officials said one test of Soviet intentions would hinge on Khrushchev's reaction to the President's suggestion that he allow the regular U. N. ambassadors to make arrangements for the proposed summit meeting.

They said Khrushchev would cast doubt on his sincerity in seeking a conference of chiefs of government if he persisted in exchanging propaganda-style letters with the Western nations.

Defensive War On Crime

Mark Twain once made the statement, "Everyone talks about the weather, but no one seems to do anything about it." A current paraphrase substitutes the word "crime" in place of "weather" and the witticism is still true.

Particularly sad is the passive attitude of the general public towards increasing incidents of violent crimes and juvenile crimes, which in some areas are all but out of hand.

Too many persons take the attitude that the prevention and punishment of crime is the business of the police and the courts.

We have grown to accept the trend towards specialization to an extreme degree in this respect. Certainly, it is the business of law enforcement agencies to deal with crimes — once the crimes have occurred. But it is evident the best police forces and the most efficient courts on earth can do only part of the job.

The fight against crime must be carried on by individuals, businesses and other organizations. This is no proposal that the public take up arms and act as an amateur police force. It is rather an appeal that the people remove temptations or other points from their property or establishments which may in any way assist or invite crime.

A chain store in an eastern state put such a move into practice which served notice on would be holdup men. With close contact maintained with the police, it was tabulated how many holdups had occurred and how many were brought to trial. Between 1949 and this year, the chain of markets suffered 92 holdups at gunpoint. Convictions were obtained in 85 of these cases, and there were no acquittals. Arrests had been made in three additional cases.

It is significant that 88 of the robberies or attempted robberies took place during the first six years of the campaign. In the last four years, only four attempts at holdups were made in the stores. Many potential burglars, it is clear, read the handwriting on the wall and reconsidered. The close cooperation between the businesses and the police pointed up the near futility of burglarizing any of the stores.

This same chain of stores and other businesses have issued leaflets over the years on what citizens may do to help discourage would be criminals. Simple precautions are often most effective. It is wise, for example, for women to carry a police whistle. Women or men, for that matter, should never pick up hitch-hikers or accept lifts from strangers.

Immediately take stock of your belongings — watches and billfolds — if someone should jostle you in a crowd. You may have been approached by a pick-pocket.

It is not a good idea to publicize vacation trips and leave your house and property unoccupied. Many teen-agers in reform schools have admitted they read the society pages of local newspapers to locate unguarded houses to burglarize. If you are going on an extended vacation, inform the local law enforcement officers.

If an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure, it follows that a word or an act of warning could prevent a crime. And these defensive measures are everyone's business.

Increasing Surpluses

Since the days of the New Deal back in the early 1930's, the United States has tried to eliminate farm surpluses as a means to keep farm prices at a reasonable level. Now there is a move afoot to increase acreage which might be placed under cultivation—a move in the opposite direction.

No wonder so many persons have pointed to governments of this and other nations and declared: "They don't know whether they're coming or going."

Last year, the U. S. government paid out millions of dollars to farmers to take land out of cultivation and place it in what was termed a "soil bank."

Now, it is reported government engineers are enthusiastic over draining swamps and tidal flats in order to overcome what was described as a shortage of farm lands near the nation's larger cities.

This is a striking example of the confusion of "big government." The only possible justification for such a move would be the idea of placing farm lands within or close to city limits. With present day refrigeration and transportation, this simply is not necessary.

If there is a move in one direction to cut farm production, there should be no move in any governmental department which would lead to its increase. This is paying twice to be sure of remaining in debt.

Perhaps those supporting the move to reclaim swamplands for farm production have been inspired by the Dutch, who for several hundred years have walled off and dried out sea bottom for living and farming space. But there is reason for such action on the part of Holland. That small country has a population of over 10 million within an area of little over 13,000 square miles. By comparison, Louisiana, with a population of approximately 2,700,000, covers an area of over 48,000 square miles.

In fact, there is not a single state in this country — including New York State — which has a population density to compare with that of Holland. So there is good reason for the age old tendency of the Dutch to build dams in the shallow Zuider Zee and pump out the water.

Though reclaiming presents a fascinating challenge to engineers, the Dutch are hardly reclaiming sea bottom as a scientific showpiece. They would be glad to import land by the acre—that in our "soil bank" included—if such a thing were possible.

To show how much ground the reclamation idea has gained in this country, specific localities have been named and certain projects have already been taken under study.

One proposal would be the draining of 159,000 acres of tidal shallows in San Francisco Bay. Not wanting to be slighted in the payroll if such drainings become a fact, Florida and Georgia point to the Okefenokee Swamp. The bayou dwellers of Louisiana, long accustomed to making use of water for transportation and fishing, have remained aloof from the reclamation bandwagon thus far.

So should all the other states. If there is a problem of low prices for agricultural products because of overproduction—and most economists agree this has been the case since the early 1920's—then why should the federal government make more farm land available?

The slogan for such a program has been suggested as: "Waste more money to create more waste produce."

GEORGE SOKOLSKY'S DAYS

Truth Behind McCarthy's Sensational Rise, Death

The magazine business must be suffering from the recession or something because here comes a magazine which advertises "A Revealing, Explosive Document. Sen. Joe McCarthy—The Truth Behind His Sensational Rise—His Mysterious Death." Two items down in the table of contents, I find another piece entitled, "The Smell of Love—You'll find B.O. can be fun." The latter article was written by a couple of doctors; the former by a usual magazine writer.

I read the McCarthy article and do not find anything new in it except the impressionistic drawing of Joe's head which makes him look like a murderer on the scaffold. That must be the sensation. As Joe only lived one life and the whole of it has been fairly well explored, it is doubtful whether much that is new can be added to it. Joe had his day and his vogue and has passed away and each year those who still regard themselves as his friends attend a Mass for his soul. Such a Mass is held in several cities and is well attended, but will naturally be decreasing as the years pass.

I knew Joe McCarthy intimately from the start of his anti-Communist career. He became interested in the subject of Communist infiltration in government and he devoted himself to the subject. One may have liked or disliked McCarthy; liked or disliked his methods; liked or disliked his associates, but it is impossible to ignore the historic consequences of Communist infiltrations into governments throughout the world. This Joe did not invent.

We are facing just this problem in Syria, and in Iraq where Communists in the palace (or call them leftists, if you will) assassinated the King of Iraq.

The writer of the magazine article asserts that McCarthy's start in this field "was largely accident." He does not know this to be true because he had no personal relationship to the senator at that or any other time. Furthermore, if he knew anything about the anti-Communist movement in the United States, he would know that little about it, good or bad, was accidental. As much planning and thinking went into one side as into the other and each side was infiltrated by the other.

The anti-Communists in the 1950s were an austere, devoted group of men and women who made enormous personal sacrifices for what they believed to be a cause. There were among them some crooks, fakers and screwballs, as there are in every movement, but the hard core of leadership was a sincere group, most of them former Communists, some always anti-Communist who were ready to die for their cause.

That they were fanatical, there can be no question. Just as the Communists were engaged in a conspiracy, so the anti-Communists were always supicious of others and each other because so often they found themselves either betrayed or deserted.

Joe McCarthy was deliberately brought into this movement because it was recognized that he would fight to a finish. Other senators started but lost interest as other problems obtruded themselves. Dick Nixon, at one stage, looked like Lochinvar but it was found early in his career that while he was a man of sincerity, he was also an ambitious politician and tended to compromise. McCarthy was uncompromising and fanatical.

The author of this magazine article that resurrects McCarthy's ghost implied that Joe drank himself to death. To say that Joe did not drink would be to deny that he was Irish. To say that Joe drank himself to death is untrue. He was discouraged. He regarded himself as betrayed. He particularly felt that he was betrayed by Vice President Nixon whom he had always trusted. He talked about going into business and getting out of politics. He was absorbed in his family life.

He also suffered extraordinary pain because of his herniated diaphragm. Once I gave a little dinner for McCarthy. His pains came on. His suffering was unbelievable and that night he had to be taken to the hospital. It was his herniated diaphragm and he was operated on for it.

Fear Of Nuclear Power Deters Russian Aggression

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Senator Stuart Symington (D., Mo.), who knows more than most about air power and air lift, did some figuring on the wall map in his office.

The nearest American take-off point to Iraq is 5,350 miles. The nearest Russian take-off point to Iraq is 140 miles. To support our 5,000 Marines in Lebanon, which is outflanked by the pro-Nasser, anti - American rebels in Iraq, we have 30 obsolete, World War II carriers, the C-54's.

Senator Symington makes a practice of talking only within his competence as a member of the Armed Services Committee and a former Air Secretary. He is not a member of the Foreign Relations Committee, so he restrains himself from talking diplomacy and policy matters.

But the Senator has been saying for years that we lack the planes, in quality and quantity, to support a limited war at any distance from North America. It was at Mr. Symington's suggestion that I went, a month or so ago, to Ft. Bragg to see what we have in Army air lift. We have fine young soldiers and pilots, dedicated senior officers, a splendid fighting spirit. But the argument, which I once swallowed myself, that we can draft commercial airliners to lift battle groups of men and weapons is fiddlesticks. Since we have committed ourselves to land troops at the ends of the earth and since we are trying to substitute mobility for masses of men, we need planes, planes, planes.

In the past few days of talking with policy - making Senators, I conclude that we need something else also. It is something that nobody in public office of my acquaintance is quite willing to say — as yet. We need to unload our hand - tying, knee - bending inhibition regarding the use of nuclear weapons.

This is a guilt complex which the Communist conspirators, ably assisted by loyal but short - sighted sentimentalists at home, have planted in American minds, both civilian and military.

We have ingested the Communist - concocted idea that it is wicked to kill our enemies with A-bombs or H-bombs. You can read it in editorials. You can hear it in speeches. "Spare civilization by swearing off nuclearonics." "Be world - minded — submit and surrender to Communism rather than blow up the earth."

Well, President Eisenhower's dispatch of Marines to Lebanon has one major meaning to persons in govenment who really know the score and honestly face it. Those Marines will stay alive only as long as the Russians permit it. I have a son in the Marines; another in the Navy. I know, as well - informed men in government know, that the Russians would wipe out that Marine force if they were not afraid of being wiped out themselves. Nothing deters the Russians and their Communist allies with their hundreds of divisions from marching wherever they list — nothing except the fear of American nuclear power.

Are we afraid to throw this punch? Are we ashamed to possess it? Are we sorry we knocked out two Japanese cities in 1945 with atomic bombs instead of fire bombs? Are we in a mood to blow up the world, destroy every vestige of life upon the planet, rather than lose a war?

Unless all these questions can be answered as befits free men and a proud nation, then — as one of the best - informed men in town has told me — we are very much in the position of the British garrison at Singapore in World War II. One night there was dancing and romance at the Officer's Club. Everybody knew that the ridiculous little Japs could not get past the British Navy but the Japs attacked by land. A few days after the dancing, the floor was strewn with violated bodies of the young and beautiful.

That's how serious it is with our American garrison. But by the blessing of Providence, we have one effective weapon — the nuclear weapon. We can destroy the enemy if he moves,— and, to be honest, may destroy ourselves also. But if we feel any qualms about using it, then we have surrendered our only salvation.

Vacation Good Time To Reform

Are you puzzled over what to do on your vacation?

Many men are. They know that if they go to the mountains they will have to help the children pick wild flowers to paste in their memory books They know that if they go to the seashore, they will have to help the children collect seashells.

And they know if they stay home their wife will keep them busy 16 hours a day doing odd jobs around the house, such as repairing the vacuum cleaner, hanging wallpaper or picking green worms off the tomato plants—chores any strong, able-bodied woman ought to attend to herself.

If you're in this plight, here's an idea. Why not use your vacation to reform and improve yourself?

Most men start their self-reform campaigns on New Year's Day. This is a bad time. A man's resistance is so low in winter that he barely has the strength to continue his vices—let alone summon up the extra strength required to abandon them.

There is another factor. Vacation is the only time when a man can reform while lying down. Any other period of the year he will be standing up or moving about. Reform under this added stress and strain is almost impossible.

Still another advantage to giving up bad habits while on vacation is that there is no sudden wrench about it. Your are in no hurry and can improve yourself slowly and leisurely.

But perhaps it might be better to give a constructive example.

Let us suppose you have gone to the seashore and want to cut down on your smoking and drinking. Here's what you do.

You stretch out on the sand and put a pack of cigarettes and a pitcher of martinis before you. You say, "I'm not going to take a smoke or a drink for one full minute." Each day you add another minute of waiting before you indulge yourself. At the end of a two-week vacation you will be able to go a full 14 minutes

This may not seem like a major achievement, but look at it this way: if you continue this reform program on every vacation for 40 years you will wind up being able to go 9 hours and 20 minutes without giving way to thirst or the desire for a pep-up puff. It's the little triumphs that add up in life.

Actually, if a fellow just doesn't rush it, there's no vice he can't give up or art he can't learn on a vacation—and return a better man for it.

One final virtue of this system. Nothing wearies one sinner more than seeing another in the throes of repentance. Your friends will be grateful—whether you succeed or fail—that you spared them the boredom of watching your one-man reform wave.

If you must be finer fellow, learn how out of town.

LOST TIME

WASHINGTON — (UPI)—The average American loses about 16 days a year due to illness and injury, according to a survey by the U.S. Public Health Service.

DR. CRANE SAYS

Daddy Too Busy, Boy Is Forlorn

Dick's father woke up after my talk mentioned below. He did as dramatic a right-about face as Scrooge. For when he tested himself by the Marshall Field yardstick, he found he was already living at the millionaire level. And so are you! So don't be classified as a "Vacation Dad" when your "butterfingers" son needs you 52 weeks in the year as a pal.

CASE Y-372: Dick B., aged 9, is a forlorn little fellow.

"My Daddy hasn't time to play with me," he began, "for he is always too busy.

"He says one of these days he'll make a pile of money and then we can have a lot of fun.

"But the other kids call me 'butterfingers' 'cause I drop the ball so much. That's why they don't pick me when they choose up kids for ball teams.

"If Daddy would only play ball with me, maybe I'd learn how to catch and wouldn't be such a 'butterfingers.'"

Vacation Dads

Dads, beware of the danger which Dick mentions. And don't limit your camaraderie with your kids to a brief vacation period in August.

Kids crave more than "vacation Dads." They want you to play with them the 52 weeks in the year and not just the fortnight in August!

"But I am trying to make a pile of dough so I can give my family a lot of luxuries and send Dick to college," his father protested.

That's a laudable goal, I'll admit, but analyze your present luxuries.

Please recall the terse comment attributed to Marshall Field when he fell heir to the vast wealth of his father.

"What's it like, Mr. Field," gushed a reporter, "to find $50,000,000 suddenly dropped in your lap?"

Mr. Field turned and slowly replied:

"Well, I still eat but three meals per day and wear only one suit of clothes at a time!"

What can any millionaire in your town enjoy that you average readers can't?

You drink the same milk. You eat the same grocery items. You see the same movies. You look at the same TV programs.

You read the same newspapers. You sit in the crowd to watch the same ball games.

For we do not have special TV or movies or newspapers or bread or books or shoes JUST FOR MILLIONAIRES.

You attend the same churches and enjoy equal rights at the ballot boxes when voting.

So why push your kids aside till some later date as you feverishly work to amass your pile of dough?

What could you do with a million dollars which you are not now doing?

For you can't consume 3,000 meals per day just because you might earn 1,000 times your present salary!

If you enjoy the normal pleasures of 3 meals per day, plus a roof over your head, plus clothes and the other basic pleasures of average Americans, you live like a millionaire already!

So play with your kids NOW. Don't wait till that uncertain future when you think you'll make a killing on the stock market or get a raise.

And don't allow yourself to become a "vacation dad" who lets his boys become "butterfingers" for lack of a few evenings playing "catch" in the back yard.

N-O-W is when you have your big chance to be a topnotch parent, as well as husband.

Happiness is not a future destination. It is a way of living.

And you can all have it for the asking. Mix your play and work and worship with every day's activities.

BASCOM TIMMONS

Are Supplemental Funds That Urgent?

Every year about this time the various government departments and agencies come to Congress with requests for so-called supplemental funds in excess of their regular annual appropriations.

Anyone who envies the members of Congress who must sit behind closed doors and listen day after day to these "urgent" last-minute requests should see a psychiatrist.

The $3.1 billion Supplemental Appropriations Bill which passed the House last week contains everything from Alpha to Omega and it would take a battalion of Solomons to determine just how much of the fund requests were really "urgent."

The House Appropriations Committee each year rebels at some of the requests — on many more, however, it throws up its collective hands in disgust and votes the money.

Here are some of the "urgent" requests the Committee had to wrestle with this year, culled from the printed testimony recently released:

The Bureau of the Public Debt wanted $1,500,000 because it had underestimated the number of U. S. Savings Bonds which would be cashed in this year and the increased costs of borrowing more money in 1959. It seems the Bureau pays banks 15 cents each for processing Series E Savings Bonds and needed $350,000 more to pay for nearly three million bonds it expects people to redeem over and above the previous estimates.

The U. S. Secret Service wanted $54,000 addition to hire 11 additional guards to protect filing cabinets of the White House staff which have overflowed into the Old State Department Building. The committee axed this item when it discovered the proposed new guards would be paid $1,600 a year more than the regular General Services Administration guards now on duty.

The National Labor Relations Board asked for $1,515,000 for additional employees to handle a new flood of complants from individuals against both unions and management.

Because a St. Louis strike delayed the annual sale of sealskins from the Pribilof Islands, the receipts of which go into the Treasury of the Fish and Wildlife Service, that agency said it needed $300,000 additional for such activities as propagation of channel catfish.

The Coast and Geodetic Survey asked for $400,000 to build a new observatory in Hawaii? The reason? Standard Oil Company of California is going to build an oil refinery right smack next to the existing observatory in Honolulu. The "mangetic disturbances" of the oil refinery will impair the observations and recordings at the existing facility.

After listening to thousands of similar requests, Rep. Ben Jensen (R-Iowa) sighed and had the following to say:

"It is most difficult for us to understand why this procedure is followed. This job of sitting on this committee and going through all these thousands of items in the general appropriation bill is a difficult one and we are always hoping — now, this is the end of it. Then we pass the general appropriation bill. My gosh, the first thing you know, here comes the supplemental.

"We have lectured and we have talked and pleaded with the departments, asking them to get all their requests in the general bill, but instead of heeding our pleas, these supplementals are getting worse and worse every year."

Adopting the old baseball cry of "wait 'til next year," the committee indicated it felt the same way as Jensen and sliced more than $200 million from the requests.

It can now relax until the first day of the next session, when the agencies begin appearing to plead for "urgent deficiency" appropriations — ex post facto funds for money they've already spent over and above their appropriations.

Defensive War On Crime

Mark Twain once made the statement, "Everyone talks about the weather, but no one seems to do anything about it." A current paraphrase substitutes the word "crime" in place of "weather" and the witticism is still true.

Particularly sad is the passive attitude of the general public towards increasing incidents of violent crimes and juvenile crimes, which in some areas are all but out of hand.

Too many persons take the attitude that the prevention and punishment of crime is the business of the police and the courts.

We have grown to accept the trend towards specialization to an extreme degree in this respect. Certainly, it is the business of law enforcement agencies to deal with crimes — once the crimes have occurred. But it is evident the best police forces and the most efficient courts on earth can do only part of the job.

The fight against crime must be carried on by individuals, businesses and other organizations. This is no proposal that the public take up arms and act as an amateur police force. It is rather an appeal that the people remove temptations or other points from their property or establishments which may in any way assist or invite crime.

A chain store in an eastern state put such a move into practice which served notice on would be holdup men. With close contact maintained with the police, it was tabulated how many holdups had occurred and how many were brought to trial. Between 1949 and this year, the chain of markets suffered 92 holdups at gunpoint. Convictions were obtained in 85 of these cases, and there were no acquittals. Arrests had been made in three additional cases.

It is significant that 88 of the robberies or attempted robberies took place during the first six years of the campaign. In the last four years, only four attempts at holdups were made in the stores. Many potential burglars, it is clear, read the handwriting on the wall and reconsidered. The close cooperation between the businesses and the police pointed up the near futility of burglarizing any of the stores.

This same chain of stores and other businesses have issued leaflets over the years on what citizens may do to help discourage would be criminals. Simple precautions are often most effective. It is wise, for example, for women to carry a police whistle. Women or men, for that matter, should never pick up hitch-hikers or accept lifts from strangers.

Immediately take stock of your belongings — watches and billfolds — if someone should jostle you in a crowd. You may have been approached by a pick-pocket.

It is not a good idea to publicize vacation trips and leave your house and property unoccupied. Many teen-agers in reform schools have admitted they read the society pages of local newspapers to locate unguarded houses to burglarize. If you are going on an extended vacation, inform the local law enforcement officers.

If an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure, it follows that a word or an act of warning could prevent a crime. And these defensive measures are everyone's business.

Increasing Surpluses

Since the days of the New Deal back in the early 1930's, the United States has tried to eliminate farm surpluses as a means to keep farm prices at a reasonable level. Now there is a move afoot to increase acreage which might be placed under cultivation—a move in the opposite direction.

No wonder so many persons have pointed to governments of this and other nations and declared: "They don't know whether they're coming or going."

Last year, the U. S. government paid out millions of dollars to farmers to take land out of cultivation and place it in what was termed a "soil bank."

Now, it is reported government engineers are enthusiastic over draining swamps and tidal flats in order to overcome what was described as a shortage of farm lands near the nation's larger cities.

This is a striking example of the confusion of "big government." The only possible justification for such a move would be the idea of placing farm lands within or close to city limits. With present day refrigeration and transportation, this simply is not necessary.

If there is a move in one direction to cut farm production, there should be no move in any governmental department which would lead to its increase. This is paying twice to be sure of remaining in debt.

Perhaps those supporting the move to reclaim swamplands for farm production have been inspired by the Dutch, who for several hundred years have walled off and dried out sea bottom for living and farming space. But there is reason for such action on the part of Holland. That small country has a population of over 10 million within an area of little over 13,000 square miles. By comparison, Louisiana, with a population of approximately 2,700,000, covers an area of over 48,000 square miles.

In fact, there is not a single state in this country — including New York State — which has a population density to compare with that of Holland. So there is good reason for the age old tendency of the Dutch to build dams in the shallow Zuider Zee and pump out the water.

Though reclaiming presents a fascinating challenge to engineers, the Dutch are hardly reclaiming sea bottom as a scientific showpiece. They would be glad to import land by the acre—that in our "soil bank" included—if such a thing were possible.

To show how much ground the reclamation idea has gained in this country, specific localities have been named and certain projects have already been taken under study.

One proposal would be the draining of 159,000 acres of tidal shallows in San Francisco Bay. Not wanting to be slighted in the payroll if such drainings become a fact, Florida and Georgia point to the Okefenokee Swamp. The bayou dwellers of Louisiana, long accustomed to making use of water for transportation and fishing, have remained aloof from the reclamation bandwagon thus far.

So should all the other states. If there is a problem of low prices for agricultural products because of overproduction—and most economists agree this has been the case since the early 1920's—then why should the federal government make more farm land available?

The slogan for such a program has been suggested as: "Waste more money to create more waste produce."

GEORGE SOKOLSKY'S DAYS

Truth Behind McCarthy's Sensational Rise, Death

The magazine business must be suffering from the recession or something because here comes a magazine which advertises "A Revealing, Explosive Document. Sen. Joe McCarthy—The Truth Behind His Sensational Rise—His Mysterious Death." Two items down in the table of contents, I find another piece entitled, "The Smell of Love—You'll find B.O. can be fun." The latter article was written by a couple of doctors; the former by a usual magazine writer.

I read the McCarthy article and do not find anything new in it except the impressionistic drawing of Joe's head which makes him look like a murderer on the scaffold. That must be the sensation. As Joe only lived one life and the whole of it has been fairly well explored, it is doubtful whether much that is new can be added to it. Joe had his day and his vogue and has passed away and each year those who still regard themselves as his friends attend a Mass for his soul. Such a Mass is held in several cities and is well attended, but will naturally be decreasing as the years pass.

I knew Joe McCarthy intimately from the start of his anti-Communist career. He became interested in the subject of Communist infiltration in government and he devoted himself to the subject. One may have liked or disliked McCarthy; liked or disliked his methods; liked or disliked his associates, but it is impossible to ignore the historic consequences of Communist infiltrations into governments throughout the world. This Joe did not invent.

We are facing just this problem in Syria, and in Iraq where Communists in the palace (or call them leftists, if you will) assassinated the King of Iraq.

The writer of the magazine article asserts that McCarthy's start in this field "was largely accident." He does not know this to be true because he had no personal relationship to the senator at that or any other time. Furthermore, if he knew anything about the anti-Communist movement in the United States, he would know that little about it, good or bad, was accidental. As much planning and thinking went into one side as into the other and each side was infiltrated by the other.

The anti-Communists in the 1950s were an austere, devoted group of men and women who made enormous personal sacrifices for what they believed to be a cause. There were among them some crooks, fakers and screwballs, as there are in every movement, but the hard core of leadership was a sincere group, most of them former Communists, some always anti-Communist who were ready to die for their cause.

That they were fanatical, there can be no question. Just as the Communists were engaged in a conspiracy, so the anti-Communists were always supicious of others and each other because so often they found themselves either betrayed or deserted.

Joe McCarthy was deliberately brought into this movement because it was recognized that he would fight to a finish. Other senators started but lost interest as other problems obtruded themselves. Dick Nixon, at one stage, looked like Lochinvar but it was found early in his career that while he was a man of sincerity, he was also an ambitious politician and tended to compromise. McCarthy was uncompromising and fanatical.

The author of this magazine article that resurrects McCarthy's ghost implied that Joe drank himself to death. To say that Joe did not drink would be to deny that he was Irish. To say that Joe drank himself to death is untrue. He was discouraged. He regarded himself as betrayed. He particularly felt that he was betrayed by Vice President Nixon whom he had always trusted. He talked about going into business and getting out of politics. He was absorbed in his family life.

He also suffered extraordinary pain because of his herniated diaphragm. Once I gave a little dinner for McCarthy. His pains came on. His suffering was unbelievable and that night he had to be taken to the hospital. It was his herniated diaphragm and he was operated on for it.

Fear Of Nuclear Power Deters Russian Aggression

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Senator Stuart Symington (D., Mo.), who knows more than most about air power and air lift, did some figuring on the wall map in his office.

The nearest American take-off point to Iraq is 5,350 miles. The nearest Russian take-off point to Iraq is 140 miles. To support our 5,000 Marines in Lebanon, which is outflanked by the pro-Nasser, anti - American rebels in Iraq, we have 30 obsolete, World War II carriers, the C-54's.

Senator Symington makes a practice of talking only within his competence as a member of the Armed Services Committee and a former Air Secretary. He is not a member of the Foreign Relations Committee, so he restrains himself from talking diplomacy and policy matters.

But the Senator has been saying for years that we lack the planes, in quality and quantity, to support a limited war at any distance from North America. It was at Mr. Symington's suggestion that I went, a month or so ago, to Ft. Bragg to see what we have in Army air lift. We have fine young soldiers and pilots, dedicated senior officers, a splendid fighting spirit. But the argument, which I once swallowed myself, that we can draft commercial airliners to lift battle groups of men and weapons is fiddlesticks. Since we have committed ourselves to land troops at the ends of the earth and since we are trying to substitute mobility for masses of men, we need planes, planes, planes.

In the past few days of talking with policy - making Senators, I conclude that we need something else also. It is something that nobody in public office of my acquaintance is quite willing to say — as yet. We need to unload our hand - tying, knee - bending inhibition regarding the use of nuclear weapons.

This is a guilt complex which the Communist conspirators, ably assisted by loyal but short - sighted sentimentalists at home, have planted in American minds, both civilian and military.

We have ingested the Communist - concocted idea that it is wicked to kill our enemies with A-bombs or H-bombs. You can read it in editorials. You can hear it in speeches. "Spare civilization by swearing off nuclearonics." "Be world - minded — submit and surrender to Communism rather than blow up the earth."

Well, President Eisenhower's dispatch of Marines to Lebanon has one major meaning to persons in govenment who really know the score and honestly face it. Those Marines will stay alive only as long as the Russians permit it. I have a son in the Marines; another in the Navy. I know, as well - informed men in government know, that the Russians would wipe out that Marine force if they were not afraid of being wiped out themselves. Nothing deters the Russians and their Communist allies with their hundreds of divisions from marching wherever they list — nothing except the fear of American nuclear power.

Are we afraid to throw this punch? Are we ashamed to possess it? Are we sorry we knocked out two Japanese cities in 1945 with atomic bombs instead of fire bombs? Are we in a mood to blow up the world, destroy every vestige of life upon the planet, rather than lose a war?

Unless all these questions can be answered as befits free men and a proud nation, then — as one of the best - informed men in town has told me — we are very much in the position of the British garrison at Singapore in World War II. One night there was dancing and romance at the Officer's Club. Everybody knew that the ridiculous little Japs could not get past the British Navy but the Japs attacked by land. A few days after the dancing, the floor was strewn with violated bodies of the young and beautiful.

That's how serious it is with our American garrison. But by the blessing of Providence, we have one effective weapon — the nuclear weapon. We can destroy the enemy if he moves — and, to be honest, may destroy ourselves also. But if we feel any qualms about using it, then we have surrendered our only salvation.

Vacation Good Time To Reform

Are you puzzled over what to do on your vacation?

Many men are. They know that if they go to the mountains they will have to help the children pick wild flowers to paste in their memory books They know that if they go to the seashore, they will have to help the children collect seashells.

And they know if they stay home their wife will keep them busy 16 hours a day doing odd jobs around the house, such as repairing the vacuum cleaner, hanging wallpaper or picking green worms off the tomato plants—chores any strong, able-bodied woman ought to attend to herself.

If you're in this plight, here's an idea. Why not use your vacation to reform and improve yourself?

Most men start their self-reform campaigns on New Year's Day. This is a bad time. A man's resistance is so low in winter that he barely has the strength to continue his vices—let alone summon up the extra strength required to abandon them.

There is another factor. Vacation is the only time when a man can reform while lying down. Any other period of the year he will be standing up or moving about. Reform under this added stress and strain is almost impossible.

Still another advantage to giving up bad habits while on vacation is that there is no sudden wrench about it. Your are in no hurry and can improve yourself slowly and leisurely.

But perhaps it might be better to give a constructive example.

Let us suppose you have gone to the seashore and want to cut down on your smoking and drinking. Here's what you do.

You stretch out on the sand and put a pack of cigarettes and a pitcher of martinis before you. You say, "I'm not going to take a smoke or a drink for one full minute." Each day you add another minute of waiting before you indulge yourself. At the end of a two-week vacation you will be able to go a full 14 minutes

This may not seem like a major achievement, but look at it this way: if you continue this reform program on every vacation for 40 years you will wind up being able to go 9 hours and 20 minutes without giving way to thirst or the desire for a pep-up puff. It's the little triumphs that add up in life.

Actually, if a fellow just doesn't rush it, there's no vice he can't give up or art he can't learn on a vacation—and return a better man for it.

One final virtue of this system. Nothing wearies one sinner more than seeing another in the throes of repentance. Your friends will be grateful—whether you succeed or fail—that you spared them the boredom of watching your one-man reform wave.

If you must be finer fellow, learn how out of town.

DR. CRANE SAYS

Daddy Too Busy, Boy Is Forlorn

Dick's father woke up after my talk mentioned below. He did as dramatic a right-about face as Scrooge. For when he tested himself by the Marshall Field yardstick, he found he was already living at the millionaire level. And so are you! So don't be classified as a "Vacation Dad" when your "butterfingers" son needs you 52 weeks in the year as a pal.

CASE Y-372: Dick B., aged 9, is a forlorn little fellow.

"My Daddy hasn't time to play with me," he began, "for he is always too busy.

"He says one of these days he'll make a pile of money and then we can have a lot of fun.

"But the other kids call me 'butterfingers' 'cause I drop the ball so much. That's why they don't pick me when they choose up kids for ball teams.

"If Daddy would only play ball with me, maybe I'd learn how to catch and wouldn't be such a 'butterfingers."

Vacation Dads

Dads, beware of the danger which Dick mentions. And don't limit your camaraderie with your kids to a brief vacation period in August.

Kids crave more than "vacation Dads." They want you to play with them the 52 weeks in the year and not just the fortnight in August!

"But I am trying to make a pile of dough so I can give my family a lot of luxuries and send Dick to college," his father protested.

That's a laudable goal, I'll admit, but analyze your present luxuries.

Please recall the terse comment attributed to Marshall Field when he fell heir to the vast wealth of his father.

"What's it like, Mr. Field," gushed a reporter, "to find $50,000,000 suddenly dropped in your lap?"

Mr. Field turned and slowly replied:

"Well, I still eat but three meals per day and wear only one suit of clothes at a time!"

What can any millionaire in your town enjoy that you average readers can't?

You drink the same milk. You eat the same grocery items. You see the same movies. You look at the same TV programs.

You read the same newspapers. You sit in the crowd to watch the same ball games.

For we do not have special TV or movies or newspapers or bread or books or shoes JUST FOR MILLIONAIRES.

You attend the same churches and enjoy equal rights at the ballot boxes when voting.

So why push your kids aside till some later date as you feverishly work to amass your pile of dough?

What could you do with a million dollars which you are not now doing?

For you can't consume 3,000 meals per day just because you might earn 1,000 times your present salary!

If you enjoy the normal pleasures of 3 meals per day, plus a roof over your head, plus clothes and the other basic pleasures of average Americans, you live like a millionaire already!

So play with your kids NOW. Don't wait till that uncertain future when you think you'll make a killing on the stock market or get a raise.

And don't allow yourself to become a "vacation dad" who lets his boys become "butterfingers" for lack of a few evenings playing "catch" in the back yard.

Are Supplemental Funds That Urgent?

Every year about this time the various government departments and agencies come to Congress with requests for so-called supplemental funds in excess of their regular annual appropriations.

Anyone who envies the members of Congress who must sit behind closed doors and listen day after day to these "urgent" last-minute requests should see a psychiatrist.

The $3.1 billion Supplemental Appropriations Bill which passed the House last week contains everything from Alpha to Omega and it would take a battalion of Solomons to determine just how much of the fund requests were really "urgent."

The House Appropriations Committee each year rebels at some of the requests — on many more, however, it throws up its collective hands in disgust and votes the money.

Here are some of the "urgent" requests the Committee had to wrestle with this year, culled from the printed testimony recently released:

The Bureau of the Public Debt wanted $1,500,000 because it had underestimated the number of U. S. It seems the Bureau pays banks 15 cents each for processing Series E Savings Bonds and needed $350,000 more to pay for nearly three million bonds it expects people to redeem over and above the previous estimates.

The U. S. Secret Service wanted $54,000 addition to hire 11 additional guards to protect filing cabinets of the White House staff which have overflowed into the Old State Department Building. Because a St. Louis strike delayed the annual sale of sealskins from the Pribilof Islands, the receipts of which go into the Treasury of the Fish and Wildlife Service, that agency said it needed $300,000 additional for such activities as propagation of channel catfish.

The Coast and Geodetic Survey asked for $400,000 to build a new observatory in Hawaii? The reason? Standard Oil Company of California is going to build an oil refinery right smack next to the existing observatory in Honolulu. The "mangetic disturbances" of the oil refinery will impair the observations and recordings at the existing facility.

After listening to thousands of similar requests, Rep. Ben Jensen (R-Iowa) sighed and had the following to say:

"It is most difficult for us to understand why this procedure is followed. This job of sitting on this committee and going through all these thousands of items in the general appropriation bill is a difficult one and we are always hoping — now, this is the end of it. Then we pass the general appropriation bill. My gosh, the first thing you know, here comes the supplemental.

"We have lectured and we have talked and pleaded with the departments, asking them to get all their requests in the general bill, but instead of heeding our pleas, these supplementals are getting worse and worse every year."

Adopting the old baseball cry of "wait 'til next year," the committee indicated it felt the same way as Jensen and sliced more than $200 million from the requests.

It can now relax until the first day of the next session, when the agencies begin appearing to plead for "urgent deficiency" appropriations — ex post facto funds for money they've already spent over and above their appropriations.

Charge Of Influence Brushed Off

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A textile executive brushed off as "ridiculous" Friday a charge that Presidential Assistant Sherman Adams used improper influence to get the executive's firm a $41,284 refund from the government.

Leo Wolff, who was president of the now-defunct Raylaine Worsteds, Inc., of Manchester, N.H., told reporters he never had met Adams. The White House has said Adams forwarded inquiries to the Pentagon for Raylaine as a matter of routine.

Wolff, relaxed and cheerful, was interviewed while waiting to testify before a House armed services subcommittee which is investigating the 1957 Army refund of a penalty against Raylaine for late delivery on a 1941 cloth contract.

Acquaintance Denied

"I don't know anyone in Washington, not even the New Hampshire people — Bridges and who was that other one, Merrow?" Wolff told newsmen. This referred to Sen. Styles Bridges (R-N. H.) and Rep. Chester E. Merrow (R-N.H.) who also forwarded queries to the Pentagon for Raylaine.

Wolff said that Adams, in forwarding an inquiry from his firm, did just what a congressman would do in similar circumstances.

"He gives you a pat on the back says 'I'll take care of it' and then forward it to get rid of it," he said.

Battle For Settlement

"We wrote to everybody we could think of," Wolff said in recalling his company's 16-year effort to get back part of the $49,771 in late-delivery penalties assessed by the Army.

He insisted that final settlement of the case last November by the Armed Forces Board of Contract Appeals was not due to outside influences. It resulted instead, he said, from the "legal ability and constant battling" of his lawyer Edwin McDermott of Philadelphia.

McDermott was questioned for more than three hours by the subcommittee. The group, headed by Rep. F. Edward Hebert (D - La.) is conducting hearings behind closed doors to determine whether public sessions should be held. McDermott was the fifth witness.

CHARGES INVESTIGATED

JAKARTA (UPI)—A military court has completed its preliminary investigation of charges against Allen Lawrence Pope of Homestead, Fla., for allegedly flying bombing raids for the Indonesian rebels, Foreign Minister Subandrio said Friday.

Truck Official Scores Common Ownership Plan

BILOXI, Miss. (AP) — A top spokesman for the nation's organized trucking industry Friday scored the railroad's proposition of common ownership of trucks and rails as "bad for the industry, bad for the shippers and bad for the American public."

Guy W. Rutland Jr., president of the American Trucking Assn., spoke at a luncheon of the Mississippi Transport Assn.

He urged coordination of services between independently owned forms of transport as a way to improve the nation's overall transportation system.

Rutland said the trucking industry would fight any such move on the part of the railroad to effect such common ownership. And he promised a fight by the industry to "maintain our integrity as an independent industry and our right to compete fairly."

Attempts Made To Improve Life Of Migrant Worker

(This is the last of four dispatches on America's migrant farm workers by a reporter who has just toured migrant labor camps in Delaware, Maryland and Virginia.)

By LOUIS CASSELS
United Press International

Eddie Emory, 14, was sitting in the shade of a big maple tree at the migrant farm workers camp at Waddell's Corner, Md. He had finished a day's work in the bean fields and now he had nothing to do.

"Do you kids in the camp ever play baseball?" I asked.

"Naw," replied Eddie. "Got no place to play." As an afterthought, he added: "Got no ball, either."

The migrant camp at Cheriton, Va., is almost identical to the one at Waddell's Corner. But there is a vast difference in the children.

The first thing you see when you drive into the Cheriton camp is a group of teen-age boys playing volleyball. Further on you find a dozen young girls, sitting in a circle on the grass, taking a sewing lesson. In the center of the camp is a neat frame building with a cross over the door. This is the Cheriton child care center, operated by the Migrant Ministry of the National Council of Churches.

It has rows of junior - sized cots and cribs where migrant babies nap while their parents are working in the fields. It has boxes of used-but-still-useable toys, crayons and games. It has an old piano on which hymns can be played during Sunday School . . . a kitchen well stocked with milk and cookies

Parked outside the center is a green station wagon with the name "Harvester" on the door. It is equipped in an extraordinary fashion. The tail-gate lowers to become an altar. It contains a portable organ, a movie projector and chests of athletic equipment. The driver is a well-educated, soft-spoken Negro minister, the Rev. Isaac Henderson.

Henderson serves the Cheriton camp and three others in its vicinity. He organizes sports activities for the children in the daytime, shows movies at night, conducts worship services on Sunday. At all hours he serves as counselor, doctor-getter, loan-arranger, and unfailing friend to any migrant in trouble.

The Home Missions Division of the National Council of Churches now has 38 full-time ministers like Henderson who operate Harvesters. They follow the migrants north in the summer, south in the winter. In addition, the Migrant Ministry has more than 400 seasonal employes who help to staff child care centers and migrant schools.

At present, the Migrant Ministry is reaching perhaps 10 per cent of the one million or more migrant workers who follow the crops. "There is much more we ought to be doing," said Mrs. Edith Lowry, its director. "But we haven't got the money."

Thanks in part to constant prodding by the Migrant Ministry and by the state and local church councils which support its work, the federal government and 20 state governments now have special committees charged with looking out for migrants' welfare.

The federal committee was appointed by President Eisenhower in 1954. It was responsible for the migrant transportation code recently put into effect. It is supporting a bill now pending in the House Banking Committee to authorize long - term, low - interest government loans for construction of decent migrant housing.

Within the past two or three years, several states have undertaken ambitious programs to raise migrant living standards. Maryland, for example, is taking great pains to see that migrant children are enrolled in school in September, and that each child is given a transfer card when he leaves. The Virginia Department of Health conducted free tuberculosis clinics in migrant camps this summer. Delaware has adopted a strong migrant housing code. Florida, New York, Pennsylvania, Oregon, Arizona, Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan have outstanding migrant programs. Texas is beginning to move.

"We are making an honest-to-God attempt to make things a little better for the migrants than they have been in the past," said Maryland farm placement representative Charles F. Yeager Jr. "But it's a long, hard, uphill struggle."

Doctors Fly To Victims Of Bomb

RABAUL, New Britain (UPI)—Three U.S. Army doctors flew here Friday to examine crew members of two Japanese coast guard vessels dusted with radioactive fallout last week from a U.S. hydrogen bomb test at Eniwetok.

In Tokyo, informed sources said the Japanese government was paving the way for a stringent protest to the United States against the incident, which occurred July 14 outside the U.S. designated nuclear danger area.

The three doctors, who were not identified, arrived from Truk in the Caroline Islands to examine five crew members of the coast guard vessels Takuyo Maru and the Satsuma Maru who were hospitalized with radiation exposure.

The coast guard in Tokyo said 37 crew members and members of Japanese scientific teams aboard the vessels had been placed under medical observation because they showed signs of radiation illness.

The captains of the two ships, which were carrying out oceanographic studies in connection with the International Geophysical Year, said they were well out of the danger zone when showered with radioactive fallout.

The ships set Geiger counters haywire when they reached here Saturday, but the radiation now was below the possible danger level.

Sources in Tokyo said the Foreign Office and the coast guard had launched a joint investigation of the incident with a view toward sending an official protest to the United States against the hydrogen bomb tests.

Observers said the incident may spark a new wave of anti-H-bomb demonstrations in Japan during the world conference against hydrogen bombs scheduled to open in Tokyo Aug. 12.

The conference will open just a week after the two vessels are scheduled to arrive back in Japan.

Information On Messages Is Released

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The American Red Cross said Friday that it will send cabled messages to U.S. troops in Lebanon only in case of family emergencies.

The military services' need for available circuits will bar transmission of any other cable or radio messages to servicemen there, the Red Cross said.

For the time being, the service organization said it would transmit to Lebanon "only notifications of deaths in servicemen's families, very serious illness, or other critical emergencies at home."

It will airmail other communications such as inquiries about the health and welfare of servicemen.

The Red Cross urged families to write to servicemen in the Middle East at these addresses:

Marine Corps: Through Marine Corps stations at Camp Lejeune or Cherry Point, N.C., or Fleet Marine Force, Fleet Post Office, New York, whichever is the latest address supplied by the Marine.

Navy: Through Fleet Post Office, New York, giving name, rating, service number, and ship to which assigned.

PIZARRO WINS 2ND

Braves Split With Cubs To Push Margin To Full Game

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Lefty Juan Pizarro, in his first start since rejoining the Braves, Friday night controlled the Chicago Cubs on nine hits as Milwaukee went a full game ahead in the National League with a 4-1 victory in the second game of a twi-night doubleheader after losing the opener 5-4.

Pizarro's decision, his first of the campaign, helped the Braves increase their lead when the second-place Giants were beaten 10-0 by the Pirates at Pittsburgh. The Cubs remained six games back in third.

The season's largest crowd of 46,747, the fourth largest in the history of County Stadium, saw the Cubs out-homer the Braves to win the opener. Dale Long and Ernie Banks kept the Chicago attack rolling in the early innings, and Sammy Taylor decided the game with his blast over the fence in the eighth.

It was the fifth homer for Taylor, a former Brave, the 12th for Long, and the 27th for Banks, who pulled into a tie for National League honors with Frank Thomas of the Pirates. Their production countered the two homers of Milwaukee's Wes Covington who pushed his tital to 17.

Bill Henry, second Chicago hurler, took his third victory against a single defeat by holding the Braves scoreless after he came on in the sixth.

Humberto Robinson, Milwaukee's third pitcher, was tagged with the loss, No. 3 in four decisions, as the Cubs broke a five-game losing streak.

Pizarro, who fanned nine was recalled from the Milwaukee farm at Wichita four days ago. He had the support of Hank Aaron who cracked his 21st homer in the seventh, after he doubled in the sixth and scored on a similar blow by Joe Adcock to put the Braves ahead to stay. Adcock scored on a single by the pinch hitter Del Crandall.

Adcock also had a hand in Milwaukee's first run when his single scored the singling Ed Mathews in the opening inning. The first three Milwaukee runs were charged to starter Taylor Phillips, who went down to his fourth defeat before leaving in the sixth. He has six victories.

Chicago's only run came on singles by Cal Neeman, Long and Phillips in the sixth as the Cubs collected four of their hits.

LITTLE BOYS

Oak Grove, West Monroe In Final

The Southside All-Stars of West Monroe and the Oak Grove All-Stars meet in the championship finals of the area Little Boys Baseball Tournament tonight at 7 o'clock at Little Boys Park in West Monroe. Both squeezed into the finals by margins of one run in yesterday's battles.

Oak Grove shaded North Bossier, 5-4, and South West Monroe needed an extra inning to beat Northside of West Monroe, 1 to 0.

Woody Woodcock, hurling for Norhtside, and Charlie Van Zile, the Southside chunker, were hooked up in a pitching thriller for six innings before Woodcock had to retire from the scoreless deadlock because of a league rule limiting a pitcher to 13 innings of work in one week. Woodcock had hurled seven earlier in the week and thus left the game last night when his 13 innings were used up. Woodcock had fanned 16 and allowed only two hits, one by Willie Rogers and another by Johnny Seclar, when he departed.

Roger Bell finished on the mound for Northside. In the seventh inning Laws started things for Southside with a double, and Billy Heath drove him home with a game-winning single.

Oak Grove won with a battery of Grubbs and Bankston. Redding and Huckaby was the North Bossier City battery. Harris, Oak Grove, and Redding, Bossier, each hit 2-for-3.

TIGERS STUMBLE

Senators Rally For 4-3 Victory

By DAVE DILES

DETROIT (AP)—The Washington Senators rallied for a pair of ninth-inning runs and defeated the Detroit Tigers Friday night 4-3, sending the sagging Detroiters down to their fifth straight setback and their ninth loss in 10 games.

The Senators, breaking a three-game losing streak, rallied on the strength of two pinch singles by Ed FitzGerald and Herb Plews. Plews drove in the tying run, and Bob Malkmus, a ninth-inning replacement for Eddie Yost, batted across the winning tally.

Paul Foytack relieved Aguirre, struck out one batter but then gave up the decisive safeties to Plews and Malkmus.

Roy Sievers slugged his 26th home run for the first Washington run in the second inning and drove across another with an eighth-inning single.

The Tigers got all their runs in the first five innings against starter Russ Kemmerer. Gail Harris drove in two with a sacrifice fly and a grounder and scored the other after doubling in the second inning.

Truman Clevenger pitched three scoreless innings and got credit for the victory. Dick Hyde pitched the final inning. Aguirre was the loser.

FOR YANKEES

Ford Shuts Out Cleveland, 6-0

CLEVELAND (AP) — Whitey Ford pitched his sixth shutout of the season for the New York Yankees Friday night—a 6-0 defeat of the Cleveland Indians whom he held to four hits. Elston Howard's two-run homer in the sixth inning broke a scoreless tie.

Ford leads major league pitchers in shutouts this year and by getting his sixth set a one-season high for himself. Not since Allie Reynolds blanked seven opponents done better in this department. in 1951 has a Yankee pitcher done better in this department. Ford now has a 13-4 record and four decisions over Cleveland. It was Ford's third shutout in a row.

The Yankee triumph extended the league leaders' winning string to six games and also was the sixth time they have won this year in Cleveland, where the Tribe has yet to beat them.

Ray Narleski, making his first start in two weeks, incurred his eighth loss against 10 wins. In the seven innings he worked he gave six walks and half of them turned into runs.

Norm Siebern was one base with a pass when Howard homered, and then Marv Throneberry walked and went around on Ford's single and Bob Avila's error.

In the seventh, a walk to Yogi Berra started the trouble. Siebern singled and Throneberry brought both runners home with a single.

Don Ferrarese walked Siebern to lead off the ninth, and the Yanks chalked up a sixth and unearned run when Siebern made the rounds on a wild throw by Ferrarese and a wild pitch.

A series-opener crowd of 28,359 waited in vain for the Indian hitters to tag Ford. Narleski's double in the third inning, Rocky Colavito's single in the fifth, Minnie Minoso's pinch single in the eighth, and Dick Brown's single in the ninth constituted the Tribe's offense.

Ford walked only two and struck out six.

Folley Kayoes Rademacher In 4th Round

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Zora Folley, 200-pounder from Chandler, Ariz., knocked out Pete Rademacher of Columbus, Ga., 198, in the fourth round of their scheduled 10-round fight Friday night, and once again the former amateur king's lofty hopes of winning fame were dashed.

The end came after one minute, 15 seconds of the fourth, with the 1956 Olympic king down for the second time in the round, and his fourth trip to the canvas during the brief battle.

Last August Rademacher, in his first professional fight, was knocked out in six rounds by Patterson.

Folley publicly declared he hoped to better that mark and at the Olympic Auditorium, before a national television audience, he did.

Folley opened a slit over big Pete's left eyelid in the third and Rademacher came up with an ugly gash toward the middle of his forehead over the right eye when the two collided.

SHADY VICTORIES

Cardinals Split Pair With Reds

ST. LOUIS (AP)— Bob Purkey of Cincinnati won his 12th game with a six-hit 3-2 victory over St. Louis in the second game of a twi-night doubleheader Friday night. A bases loaded walk by the Redlegs' Don Newcombe in the ninth gave the Cardinals the opener 5-4.

The right-handed Purkey got some help in the form of a wild throw by Cardinal pitcher Phil Paine in the final frame of the second game.

Frank Robinson drew a walk from Chuck Stobbs and reached second on a sacrifice. Paine replaced Stobbs and, in fielding Don Hoak's safe bunt, threw wild to first, permitting Robinson to score the winning run.

But Paine, who has never lost a game in the majors in nine decisions, continued his charmed life. The loss was charged to Stobbs.

Jerry Lynch drove in the other Cincinnati runs with a two-run homer in the second, while Stan Musial drove in Joe Cunningham with both St. Louis markers. Cunningham had doubled both times.

Robinson and Cunningham each delivered two-run homers in the opener of the freakish doubleheader, which drew 28,734.

In the opener the Cards took a 3-0 lead on Cunningham's two-run homer in the third. Robinson's two run drive sent Cincinnati ahead 4-3 in the eighth. St. Louis promptly tied it up later in the inning when Musial hit his second double, advanced on an infield out and scored on Ennis' sacrifice fly.

Billy Muffett was the starting pitcher for the Cards in the second game and was lifted for a pinch hitter in the eighth.

BATTLE OF SOX

Donovan Pitches White Over Red

By JOE MOOSHIL

CHICAGO (AP) — Right-hander Dick Donovan of the Chicago White Sox, backed by three double plays, turned back the Boston Red Sox 4-0 Friday night before a crowd of 21,060.

The victory was the fourth straight for Donovan and his fifth successive complete game, giving him a 7-10 record for the season. He gave up eight hits, walked two and struck out six.

Boston slugger Ted Williams, fined $250 by the American League for spitting at the fans in Kansas City Wednesday, struck out twice and grounded out to Donovan after getting a first inning double.

The White Sox scored all four of their runs in the first two innings at the expense of starter Frank Sullivan who went down to his fourth defeat against eight victories. Sully was tagged for five of Chicago's seven hits.

A leadoff walk to Billy Goodman, Jim Landis' double and an infield out by Sherm Lollar accounted for a run in the first inning. With two out in the second, Luis Aparicio bunted safely, went to third on Donovan's single and scored on a single by Goodman. Fox then doubled home the final two runs of the game.

The Red Sox threatened in the first and second innings but couldn't come through. With two outs in the first, Williams doubled to left and Frankie Malzone walked but Jackie Jensen bounced out.

Dick Gernert and Sammy White both singled in the second with none out but died there.

The shutout was the second this season for Donovan and the 10th by White Sor pitchers.

Fathers Take Disputed Win In Exhibition

The Poppas won a disputed 13-0 victory over their sons in a Dixie League charity exhibition last night with the youngsters protesting the decision since a lazy father pulled a Fred Merkle boner and didn't touch all the bases on a grand-slam homer in the last inning.

J. R. Hood blasted the inside-the-park grand-slammer in the bottom of the 7th but one of the baserunners didn't circle the sacks. Despite protests, umpire-in-chief Jack Hesketh, who had retired in the fifth inning, took the easy way out and refused to rule on the play.

The Poppas pilot, Pinky Butler, put his players in the same positions as their sons and the bit of masterminding paid off. Dr. W. C. Cookston and Frank Smith turned in fielding gems for the fathers at shortstop and Herbert Henry got 3-3 including a homer.

Buddy Embanato starred for the sons with a 3-run homer in the top of the seventh that put the youngsters ahead, 10-9, going into the bottom of the inning.

Shaw, Sims, Marx and Wood hurled for the poppas and Shaw, Sims, Marx and Breese worked for the losers. Via, Embanato and Gannaway caught for the winners and Via and Embanato were behind the plate for the sons.

Quast Faces McIntire In Meet Finals

CHICAGO (AP) — Anne Quast and Barbara McIntire, a pair of current U.S. Curtis Cup team members, will meet Saturday over the 36-hole route for the Women's Western Amateur golf crown.

The pert Miss Quast, 20-year-old Stanford history major from Everett, Wash., crushed Anne Richardson of Columbus, Ohio, 5 and 4 in Friday's semifinals.

Miss McIntire, trim 23-year-old brunette who sells real estate in Jupiter, Fla., edged Mrs. Paul Dye Jr., 31-year-old mother from Indianapolis and the Indiana state champion, 1 up.

While Miss Quast was stringing out seven one-putt greens in her run-away over her close Curtis Cup chum, Miss McIntire was extended to the final hole for victory.

Miss Quast, trying to duplicate her feat of 1956 when she was the meet's medalist as well as titlist, strung out seven one-putt greens in the 14 holes needed to dispose of her supple, 22-year-old opponent.

FIVE RUNS

Bums Explode In 9th To Top Phils

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Los Angeles Dodgers exploded for five runs in the ninth inning Friday night and defeated the Philadelphia Phillies 7-3.

Steve Bilko, batting for reliever Clem Labine, walked to load the bases and PeeWee Reese came in to run for Bilko. Jim Gilliam's single scored Neal and Gray with Reese stopping at second. Don Zimmer's triple scoring Reese and Gilliam ended Farrell's relief stint. Meyer got Roseboro on strikes, but Duke Snider's pop fly fell for a hit, scoring Zimmer.

The Dodgers' outburst came after the Phils tied the game at 2-all in the eighth. Phils' pinch hitter Wally Post hit his fourth homer of the season in the ninth to greet reliever Fred Kipp.

It was the Phillies' first loss since Sawyer took over managerial duties again on Tuesday replacing Mayo Smith.

The Phillies got even in the eighth with the help of two Dodger errors.

Chico Fernandez opened with a single and Manager Walt Alston pulled southpaw Johnny Podres and sent in right-hander Labine to pitch to hard-hitting lefty Harry Anderson. Anderson belted a double to center. On the relay from the outfield, Neal threw wild to third allowing Fernandez to score. Anderson romped home on another wild throw by third baseman Gray.

The Dodgers' first run in the fourth came on Neal's single scoring Norm Larker who had doubled. Catcher John Roseboro's seventh homer of the season in the sixth produced the second run.

PIZARRO WINS 2ND

Braves Split With Cubs To Push Margin To Full Game

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Lefty Juan Pizarro, in his first start since rejoining the Braves, Friday night controlled the Chicago Cubs on nine hits as Milwaukee went a full game ahead in the National League with a 4-1 victory in the second game of a twi-night doubleheader after losing the opener 5-4.

Pizarro's decision, his first of the campaign, helped the Braves increase their lead when the second-place Giants were beaten 10-0 by the Pirates at Pittsburgh. The Cubs remained six games back in third.

The season's largest crowd of 46,747, the fourth largest in the history of County Stadium, saw the Cubs out-homer the Braves to win the opener. Dale Long and Ernie Banks kept the Chicago attack rolling in the early innings, and Sammy Taylor decided the game with his blast over the fence in the eighth.

It was the fifth homer for Taylor, a former Brave, the 12th for Long, and the 27th for Banks, who pulled into a tie for National League honors with Frank Thomas of the Pirates. Their production countered the two homers of Milwaukee's Wes Covington who pushed his tital to 17.

Bill Henry, second Chicago hurler, took his third victory against a single defeat by holding the Braves scoreless after he came on in the sixth.

Humberto Robinson, Milwaukee's third pitcher, was tagged with the loss, No. 3 in four decisions, as the Cubs broke a five-game losing streak.

Pizarro, who fanned nine was recalled from the Milwaukee farm at Wichita four days ago. He had the support of Hank Aaron who cracked his 21st homer in the seventh, after he doubled in the sixth and scored on a similar blow by Joe Adcock to put the Braves ahead to stay. Adcock scored on a single by the pinch hitter Del Crandall.

Adcock also had a hand in Milwaukee's first run when his single scored the singling Ed Mathews in the opening inning. The first three Milwaukee runs were charged to starter Taylor Phillips, who went down to his fourth defeat before leaving in the sixth. He has six victories.

Chicago's only run came on singles by Cal Neeman, Long and Phillips in the sixth as the Cubs collected four of their hits.

LITTLE BOYS

Oak Grove, West Monroe In Final

The Southside All-Stars of West Monroe and the Oak Grove All-Stars meet in the championship finals of the area Little Boys Baseball Tournament tonight at 7 o'clock at Little Boys Park in West Monroe. Both squeezed into the finals by margins of one run in yesterday's battles.

Oak Grove shaded North Bossier, 5-4, and South West Monroe needed an extra inning to beat Northside of West Monroe, 1 to 0.

Woody Woodcock, hurling for Norhtside, and Charlie Van Zile, the Southside chunker, were hooked up in a pitching thriller for six innings before Woodcock had to retire from the scoreless deadlock because of a league rule limiting a pitcher to 13 innings of work in one week. Woodcock had hurled seven earlier in the week and thus left the game last night when his 13 innings were used up. Woodcock had fanned 16 and allowed only two hits, one by Willie Rogers and another by Johnny Seclar, when he departed.

Roger Bell finished on the mound for Northside. In the seventh inning Laws started things for Southside with a double, and Billy Heath drove him home with a game-winning single.

TIGERS STUMBLE

Senators Rally For 4-3 Victory

By DAVE DILES

DETROIT (AP)—The Washington Senators rallied for a pair of ninth-inning runs and defeated the Detroit Tigers Friday night 4-3, sending the sagging Detroiters down to their fifth straight setback and their ninth loss in 10 games.

The Senators, breaking a three-game losing streak, rallied on the strength of two pinch singles by Ed FitzGerald and Herb Plews. Plews drove in the tying run, and Bob Malkmus, a ninth-inning replacement for Eddie Yost, batted across the winning tally.

Paul Foytack relieved Aguirre, struck out one batter but then gave up the decisive safeties to Plews and Malkmus.

Roy Sievers slugged his 26th home run for the first Washington run in the second inning and drove across another with an eighth-inning single.

The Tigers got all their runs in the first five innings against starter Russ Kemmerer. Gail Harris drove in two with a sacrifice fly and a grounder and scored the other after doubling in the second inning.

Truman Clevenger pitched three scoreless innings and got credit for the victory. Dick Hyde pitched the final inning. Aguirre was the loser.

FOR YANKEES

Ford Shuts Out Cleveland, 6-0

CLEVELAND (AP) — Whitey Ford pitched his sixth shutout of the season for the New York Yankees Friday night—a 6-0 defeat of the Cleveland Indians whom he held to four hits. Elston Howard's two-run homer in the sixth inning broke a scoreless tie.

Ford leads major league pitchers in shutouts this year and by getting his sixth set a one-season high for himself. Not since Allie Reynolds blanked seven opponents done better in this department. in 1951 has a Yankee pitcher done better in this department. Ford now has a 13-4 record and four decisions over Cleveland. It was Ford's third shutout in a row.

The Yankee triumph extended the league leaders' winning string to six games and also was the sixth time they have won this year in Cleveland, where the Tribe has yet to beat them.

Ray Narleski, making his first start in two weeks, incurred his eighth loss against 10 wins. In the seven innings he worked he gave six walks and half of them turned into runs.

Norm Siebern was one base with a pass when Howard homered, and then Marv Throneberry walked and went around on Ford's single and Bob Avila's error.

In the seventh, a walk to Yogi Berra started the trouble. Siebern singled and Throneberry brought both runners home with a single.

Don Ferrarese walked Siebern to lead off the ninth, and the Yanks chalked up a sixth and unearned run when Siebern made the rounds on a wild throw by Ferrarese and a wild pitch.

A series-opener crowd of 28,359 waited in vain for the Indian hitters to tag Ford. Narleski's double in the third inning, Rocky Colavito's single in the fifth, Minnie Minoso's pinch single in the eighth, and Dick Brown's single in the ninth constituted the Tribe's offense.

Ford walked only two and struck out six.

Folley Kayoes Rademacher In 4th Round

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Zora Folley, 200-pounder from Chandler, Ariz., knocked out Pete Rademacher of Columbus, Ga., 198, in the fourth round of their scheduled 10-round fight Friday night, and once again the former amateur king's lofty hopes of winning fame were dashed.

The end came after one minute, 15 seconds of the fourth, with the 1956 Olympic king down for the second time in the round, and his fourth trip to the canvas during the brief battle.

Last August Rademacher, in his first professional fight, was knocked out in six rounds by Patterson.

Folley publicly declared he hoped to better that mark and at the Olympic Auditorium, before a national television audience, he did.

Folley opened a slit over big Pete's left eyelid in the third and Rademacher came up with an ugly gash toward the middle of his forehead over the right eye when the two collided.

Cardinals Split Pair With Reds

ST. LOUIS (AP)— Bob Purkey of Cincinnati won his 12th game with a six-hit 3-2 victory over St. Louis in the second game of a twi-night doubleheader Friday night. A bases loaded walk by the Redlegs' Don Newcombe in the ninth gave the Cardinals the opener 5-4.

The right-handed Purkey got some help in the form of a wild throw by Cardinal pitcher Phil Paine in the final frame of the second game.

Frank Robinson drew a walk from Chuck Stobbs and reached second on a sacrifice. Paine replaced Stobbs and, in fielding Don Hoak's safe bunt, threw wild to first, permitting Robinson to score the winning run.

But Paine, who has never lost a game in the majors in nine decisions, continued his charmed life. The loss was charged to Stobbs.

Jerry Lynch drove in the other Cincinnati runs with a two-run homer in the second, while Stan Musial drove in Joe Cunningham with both St. Louis markers. Cunningham had doubled both times.

Robinson and Cunningham each delivered two-run homers in the opener of the freakish doubleheader, which drew 28,734.

In the opener the Cards took a 3-0 lead on Cunningham's two-run homer in the third. Robinson's two run drive sent Cincinnati ahead 4-3 in the eighth. St. Louis promptly tied it up later in the inning when Musial hit his second double, advanced on an infield out and scored on Ennis' sacrifice fly.

Billy Muffett was the starting pitcher for the Cards in the second game and was lifted for a pinch hitter in the eighth.

BATTLE OF SOX

Donovan Pitches White Over Red

By JOE MOOSHIL

CHICAGO (AP) — Right-hander Dick Donovan of the Chicago White Sox, backed by three double plays, turned back the Boston Red Sox 4-0 Friday night before a crowd of 21,060.

The victory was the fourth straight for Donovan and his fifth successive complete game, giving him a 7-10 record for the season. He gave up eight hits, walked two and struck out six.

Boston slugger Ted Williams, fined $250 by the American League for spitting at the fans in Kansas City Wednesday, struck out twice and grounded out to Donovan after getting a first inning double.

The White Sox scored all four of their runs in the first two innings at the expense of starter Frank Sullivan who went down to his fourth defeat against eight victories. Sully was tagged for five of Chicago's seven hits.

A leadoff walk to Billy Goodman, Jim Landis' double and an infield out by Sherm Lollar accounted for a run in the first inning. With two out in the second, Luis Aparicio bunted safely, went to third on Donovan's single and scored on a single by Goodman. Fox then doubled home the final two runs of the game.

The Red Sox threatened in the first and second innings but couldn't come through. With two outs in the first, Williams doubled to left and Frankie Malzone walked but Jackie Jensen bounced out.

Dick Gernert and Sammy White both singled in the second with none out but died there.

The shutout was the second this season for Donovan and the 10th by White Sor pitchers.

Fathers Take Disputed Win In Exhibition

The Poppas won a disputed 13-0 victory over their sons in a Dixie League charity exhibition last night with the youngsters protesting the decision since a lazy father pulled a Fred Merkle boner and didn't touch all the bases on a grand-slam homer in the last inning.

J. R. Hood blasted the inside-the-park grand-slammer in the bottom of the 7th but one of the baserunners didn't circle the sacks. Despite protests, umpire-in-chief Jack Hesketh, who had retired in the fifth inning, took the easy way out and refused to rule on the play.

The Poppas pilot, Pinky Butler, put his players in the same positions as their sons and the bit of masterminding paid off. Dr. W. C. Cookston and Frank Smith turned in fielding gems for the fathers at shortstop and Herbert Henry got 3-3 including a homer.

Buddy Embanato starred for the sons with a 3-run homer in the top of the seventh that put the youngsters ahead, 10-9, going into the bottom of the inning.

Shaw, Sims, Marx and Wood hurled for the poppas and Shaw, Sims, Marx and Breese worked for the losers. Via, Embanato and Gannaway caught for the winners and Via and Embanato were behind the plate for the sons.

Quast Faces McIntire In Meet Finals

CHICAGO (AP) — Anne Quast and Barbara McIntire, a pair of current U.S. Curtis Cup team members, will meet Saturday over the 36-hole route for the Women's Western Amateur golf crown.

The pert Miss Quast, 20-year-old Stanford history major from Everett, Wash., crushed Anne Richardson of Columbus, Ohio, 5 and 4 in Friday's semifinals.

Miss McIntire, trim 23-year-old brunette who sells real estate in Jupiter, Fla., edged Mrs. Paul Dye Jr., 31-year-old mother from Indianapolis and the Indiana state champion, 1 up.

While Miss Quast was stringing out seven one-putt greens in her run-away over her close Curtis Cup chum, Miss McIntire was extended to the final hole for victory.

Miss Quast, trying to duplicate her feat of 1956 when she was the meet's medalist as well as titlist, strung out seven one-putt greens in the 14 holes needed to dispose of her supple, 22-year-old opponent.

FIVE RUNS

Bums Explode In 9th To Top Phils

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Los Angeles Dodgers exploded for five runs in the ninth inning Friday night and defeated the Philadelphia Phillies 7-3.

The Dodgers sent 11 men to the plate in their big inning. Their barrage forced Phillie pitchers Jim Hearn and Dick Farrell to the showers before reliever Jack Meyer quieted the uprising.

Steve Bilko, batting for reliever Clem Labine, walked to load the bases and PeeWee Reese came in to run for Bilko. Jim Gilliam's single scored Neal and Gray with Reese stopping at second. Don Zimmer's triple scoring Reese and Gilliam ended Farrell's relief stint. Meyer got Roseboro on strikes, but Duke Snider's pop fly fell for a hit, scoring Zimmer.

The Dodgers' outburst came after the Phils tied the game at 2-all in the eighth. Phils' pinch hitter Wally Post hit his fourth homer of the season in the ninth to greet reliever Fred Kipp.

It was the Phillies' first loss since Sawyer took over managerial duties again on Tuesday replacing Mayo Smith.

The Phillies got even in the eighth with the help of two Dodger errors.

Chico Fernandez opened with a single and Manager Walt Alston pulled southpaw Johnny Podres and sent in right-hander Labine to pitch to hard-hitting lefty Harry Anderson. Anderson belted a double to center. On the relay from the outfield, Neal threw wild to third allowing Fernandez to score. Anderson romped home on another wild throw by third baseman Gray.

The Dodgers' first run in the fourth came on Neal's single scoring Norm Larker who had doubled. Catcher John Roseboro's seventh homer of the season in the sixth produced the second run.

4TH STRAIGHT FOR BUCS

Giants Blanked By Raydon, 10-1

PITTSBURGH (TP)—Curt Raydon blanked the second-place San Francisco Giants Friday night on four hits as the Pittsburgh Pirates won their fourth straight game 10-0.

Bob Skinner led the Pirates 16-hit attack with three hits, including a tremendous home run to the right field roof.

Skinner's blast came in the second inning and was only the fifth homer to reach or clear the roof in the history of Forbes Field. Three were hit in regular season games—by Babe Ruth, Ted Beard and Wally Moon. Mickey Mantle hit one in an exhibition. The distance to right field is 300 feet, but the roof is more than 40-feet high.

Raydon stretched his personal log over the Giants to three victories against one defeat. He pitched a two-hitter against them earlier this year for his first major league victory. His season record now is 4-3.

The 24-year-old right - hander struck out seven and walked four. He was in trouble only in the seventh when Willie Mays singled and Leon Wagner walked. Orlando Cepeda hit a single to right but Roberto Clemente nailed Mays at the plate, killing the potential rally.

The Pirates, who lost three games to the Giants last week on the Coast, scored single runs in the first, second, and fourth innings and put the game on ice with a five-run rally in the sixth. They added two insurance runs in the eighth.

Both Skinner and Dick Groat had three hits apiece and both drove in two runs. Frank Thomas tripled in the sixth, extending his consecutive game hitting streak to 15.

Giants starter Stu Miller was lifted for a pinch hitter and charged with his fifth loss of the season. He has won three.

Pittsburgh fans, situated around the Giant bullpen raised a fuss when Giant hurler Ruben Gomez began warming up in the seventh.

Words were exchanged and Gomez threw a ball against the screen along the bleachers. Several beer cans were thrown to the field. The game was called for a short time and the fans were asked to desist.

Gomez eventually saw action in the eighth inning as the Giants' used four pitchers.

Minor Colds Sweep Yanks' Soviet Camp

By STERLING SLAPPEY

MOSCOW (AP)—A mild siege of sore throats and bad colds struck the U. S. men's track and field forces Friday. But none was serious and the team is expected to be at full strength for the giant two-day dual meet with the Russians, starting Sunday.

Shot putter Parry O'Brien and the squad's middle distance running ace, Tom Courtney, were among those given a shot of penicillin.

O'Brien, world record holder in the shot, did not work out Friday. Instead, wearing street clothes, he helped Earlene Brown, the sturdy Los Angeles woman who put the shot 55 feet, 4 inches in practice Thursday.

Courtney worked out as usual as did two others suffering from colds—pole vaulter Jim Brewer of Los Angeles and Jack Yerman, the quarter-miler from Woodland, Calif.

"No one is seriously ill," said Joseph Takack, the team physician from New York. "I expect all the boys to be in good shape by Sunday."

Four old injuries seemed to be healing properly, affording the United States no excuses in the giant battle with its chief rival of the 1956 Olympics at Melbourne.

Rafer Johnson of Los Angeles, who will meet Russia's gifted Vassily Kuznetsov in the decathlon, said his twisted knee was giving him no more trouble. He said he hoped to beat the Russian's world decathlon record.

Rink Babka, the discus thrower from Palo Alto, Calif., still had a painful ankle but Coach Larry Snyder said the injury should not affect Babka's throwing.

Harold Connolly of Boston, despite a chest injury, has had three hammer throws of more than 220 feet. Bill Jackson, the broad jumper from Los Angeles, said his knee twisted at West Point, N. Y., before departure, was coming around okay.

Payton Jordan of Stanford University, assistant to Coach George Eastment, said, "We tend to forget that injuries very often stimulate a youngster. Usually he does better with some of these injuries than without them."

The American men, dominant in the sprints and hurdle events, are expected to beat their Russian rivals in over-all scoring. But the U.S. women figure to lose to the hardier Soviet females. Each country will have two competitors in each event. Points will be awarded on a 5-3-2-1 basis.

Two American teen-agers have made a tremendous impression on the Russians. One is Paul Stuber, 17, of Lakewood, Calif., the high jumper. The other is Dallas Long, 18, shotputter from Phoenix, Ariz.

Soviet athletes invariably are four to seven years older than the Americans. The Russians think it amazing that these two youngsters are good enough to compete.

Player's Second 68 Good For Lead In Eastern Golf

By LOU PANOS

BALTIMORE (AP) — Demonstrating a virtually flawless game, Gary Player, South African Ace, shot his second straight 68 Friday for a two-stroke lead in the Eastern Open Golf Tournament.

Also in that bracket was Art Wall Jr. of Pocono Manor, Pa., who duplicated Thursday's 69.

At 140 came Jack Burke Jr., who added a 69 to his opening-day 71, and Bob Goalby, who shot a second-round 68 as he, Player, and Wall made up the hottest threesome of the course.

PGA champion Dow Finsterwald, outwardly unperturbed by Thursday's 77, forged back into contention with a blazing 65, the best round of the day. His seven-under-par performance came within one stroke of the course record set by Tommy Bolt in the opening round of last year's Eastern Open.

Fetchick slipped to a 73 after his sparkling first round, placing him at 141 with Lionel Hebert, Johnny Pott and Fred Hawkins. Hebert posted 72 in the second round, Pott 70 and Hawkins a 68 which included a 50-foot birdie putt on the par-4 fourth hole.

In the 142 group with Finsterwald were Wes Ellis Jr., who went around in 73; host pro John O'Donnell, 72; Billy Maxwell, 70, Dick Hendrickson, 69, and Deane Beman, the 20-year-old University of Maryland junior who again shot 71.

One stroke behind them came Don Stough of York, Pa., who carded 73, and four players who equaled par 72—Jim Ferree, Tommy Bolt, Doug Ford and George Bayer.

As he did Thursday, Player birdied two holes going, two coming, and parred all the others. The only green he missed with his approaches was the 16th, where he underclubbed and fell about eight feet short. His longest birdie putt was a 15-footer on the No. 14.

Finsterwald's dazzling 65 included eight birdies on putts of up to 20 feet and a bogey on the 15th, where his approach was trapped.

The field was cut to about half, with those failing to shoot 149 or better getting the heave-ho. Among those barely making the cutoff was muscular Frank Stranahan, who won the 1955 version of this $20,000 tournament but has only a 77-72—149 so far this time, and Cary Middlecoff, the 1952 champ, who has 78-70—148.

The biggest casualties included veteran Ed Oliver, with 75-75—150, and Al Balding, with 74-77—151.

Fay Crocker of Montevideo, Uruguay, fell from second to fourth with a triple bogey on the fifth hole, although she came back with a birdie on the 6th.

Giants starter Stu Miller was lifted for a pinch hitter and charged with his fifth loss of the season. He has won three.

Pittsburgh fans, situated around the Giant bullpen raised a fuss when Giant hurler Ruben Gomez began warming up in the seventh.

Words were exchanged and Gomez threw a ball against the screen along the bleachers. Several beer cans were thrown to the field. The game was called for a short time and the fans were asked to desist.

Gomez eventually saw action in the eighth inning as the Giants' used four pitchers.

Race Program Called Off For Autos Tonight

There'll be no racing tonight at the Monroe Speed Bowl, but track operator A. J. Whitlock said he expects to have the quarter-mile oval ready for action in another week.

The track was closed last week for improvements, and rains this week have left the oval needing more work before taking the beating only racing automobiles can give.

Minor Colds Sweep Yanks' Soviet Camp

By STERLING SLAPPEY

MOSCOW (AP)—A mild siege of sore throats and bad colds struck the U. S. men's track and field forces Friday. But none was serious and the team is expected to be at full strength for the giant two-day dual meet with the Russians, starting Sunday.

Shot putter Parry O'Brien and the squad's middle distance running ace, Tom Courtney, were among those given a shot of penicillin.

O'Brien, world record holder in the shot, did not work out Friday. Instead, wearing street clothes, he helped Earlene Brown, the sturdy Los Angeles woman who put the shot 55 feet, 4 inches in practice Thursday.

Courtney worked out as usual as did two others suffering from colds—pole vaulter Jim Brewer of Los Angeles and Jack Yerman, the quarter-miler from Woodland, Calif.

"No one is seriously ill," said Joseph Takack, the team physician from New York. "I expect all the boys to be in good shape by Sunday."

Four old injuries seemed to be healing properly, affording the United States no excuses in the giant battle with its chief rival of the 1956 Olympics at Melbourne.

Rafer Johnson of Los Angeles, who will meet Russia's gifted Vassily Kuznetsov in the decathlon, said his twisted knee was giving him no more trouble. He said he hoped to beat the Russian's world decathlon record.

Rink Babka, the discus thrower from Palo Alto, Calif., still had a painful ankle but Coach Larry Snyder said the injury should not affect Babka's throwing.

Harold Connolly of Boston, despite a chest injury, has had three hammer throws of more than 220 feet. Bill Jackson, the broad jumper from Los Angeles, said his knee twisted at West Point, N. Y., before departure, was coming around okay.

Payton Jordan of Stanford University, assistant to Coach George Eastment, said, "We tend to forget that injuries very often stimulate a youngster. Usually he does better with some of these injuries than without them."

The American men, dominant in the sprints and hurdle events, are expected to beat their Russian rivals in over-all scoring. But the U.S. women figure to lose to the hardier Soviet females. Each country will have two competitors in each event. Points will be awarded on a 5-3-2-1 basis.

Two American teen-agers have made a tremendous impression on the Russians. One is Paul Stuber, 17, of Lakewood, Calif., the high jumper. The other is Dallas Long, 18, shotputter from Phoenix, Ariz.

Soviet athletes invariably are four to seven years older than the Americans. The Russians think it amazing that these two youngsters are good enough to compete.

Player's Second 68 Good For Lead In Eastern Golf

By LOU PANOS

BALTIMORE (AP) — Demonstrating a virtually flawless game, Gary Player, South African Ace, shot his second straight 68 Friday for a two-stroke lead in the Eastern Open Golf Tournament.

Also in that bracket was Art Wall Jr. of Pocono Manor, Pa., who duplicated Thursday's 69.

At 140 came Jack Burke Jr., who added a 69 to his opening-day 71, and Bob Goalby, who shot a second-round 68 as he, Player, and Wall made up the hottest threesome of the course.

PGA champion Dow Finsterwald, outwardly unperturbed by Thursday's 77, forged back into contention with a blazing 65, the best round of the day. His seven-under-par performance came within one stroke of the course record set by Tommy Bolt in the opening round of last year's Eastern Open.

Fetchick slipped to a 73 after his sparkling first round, placing him at 141 with Lionel Hebert, Johnny Pott and Fred Hawkins. Hebert posted 72 in the second round, Pott 70 and Hawkins a 68 which included a 50-foot birdie putt on the par-4 fourth hole.

In the 142 group with Finsterwald were Wes Ellis Jr., who went around in 73; host pro John O'Donnell, 72; Billy Maxwell, 70, Dick Hendrickson, 69, and Deane Beman, the 20-year-old University of Maryland junior who again shot 71.

One stroke behind them came Don Stough of York, Pa., who carded 73, and four players who equaled par 72—Jim Ferree, Tommy Bolt, Doug Ford and George Bayer.

As he did Thursday, Player birdied two holes going, two coming, and parred all the others. The only green he missed with his approaches was the 16th, where he underclubbed and fell about eight feet short. His longest birdie putt was a 15-footer on the No. 14.

Finsterwald's dazzling 65 included eight birdies on putts of up to 20 feet and a bogey on the 15th, where his approach was trapped.

The field was cut to about half, with those failing to shoot 149 or better getting the heave-ho. Among those barely making the cutoff was muscular Frank Stranahan, who won the 1955 version of this $20,000 tournament but has only a 77-72—149 so far this time, and Cary Middlecoff, the 1952 champ, who has 78-70—148.

The biggest casualties included veteran Ed Oliver, with 75-75—150, and Al Balding, with 74-77—151.

Mrs. Pung Takes Tournament Lead

FRENCH LICK, Ind. (AP) — Jackie Pung of San Francisco knocked five strokes off par Friday and improved her first-round score by 10 strokes to take the lead in the second round of the French Lick Open Invitational Golf Tournament.

The Hawaiian from San Francisco was five over par and tied for seventh at the end of the first round, but she had two eagles Friday on the par-74 course for a card of 79-69—148.

Fay Crocker of Montevideo, Uruguay, fell from second to fourth with a triple bogey on the fifth hole, although she came back with a birdie on the 6th.

Sees Withdrawal Of U.S. Troops

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A top American official at the United Nations said Friday that U. S. troops may be withdrawn from Lebanon "quite soon" providing next week's presidential election comes off without a hitch.

James J. Wadsworth, deputy U. S. representative to the United Nations, made the statement in testimony before a House foreign affairs subcommittee. The group is considering a resolution which would call for establishment of a permanent U.N. police force.

When U.S. troops, now numbering about 9,000, leave Lebanon, Wadsworth said, "the aftertaste will be better than the present taste because we will have proved that we are people of our word."

He said the withdrawal depended on a situation in which no new difficulties arise before next Thursday's Lebanese election and on orderly conduct of the election.

Election Thursday

Lebanese officials have agreed to summon parliament for a vote next Thursday on a successor to President Camille Chamoun, major target of rebel criticism.

The pro-government officials further strengthened hopes for an end to the 10-week-old rebellion by agreeing to support a presidential candidate who is not a member of parliament if one can be found who is satisfactory to both sides.

Wadsworth was asked by committee members what he thought would happen after American troops pull out of Lebanon. He replied he thought the feeling would be "one of great relief."

Regarding a withdrawal, he said "it is entirely possible that this will take place quite soon."

Wadsworth also said he believed strengthening of U.N. observation posts along all routes in to Lebanon would serve as "a tremendous deterrent to infiltration, even if they never stop anybody".

Lebanese charges that men and arms from the United Arab Republic were being smuggled in to help the rebels were a prime factor in the dispatch of American troops.

Wadsworth and Francis O. Wilcox, assistant secretary of state for international organization affairs, both told the subcommittee they favored in principle creation of a U.N. police force.

But Wilcox said it might be preferable to have a sort of reserve force instead of a permanent U.N. force.

This alternative, he said, would permit the immediate calling up of a U.N. force in case of emergency without the necessity for maintaining such a force in constant readiness.

Hope Fades For Mouse In Rocket

The three-inch rodent rode the nose cone of an Air Force Thor-Able missile 6,300 miles in a trip through outer space Wednesday, then presumably fell with the cone into the Atlantic.

Search planes have cover thousands of square miles of the ocean since then in a vain hunt for the cone's orange balloon marker.

Wickie was the third mouse to be launched in a Thor-Able missile. The other two also were not found.

Four planes saw the missile make a fiery re-entry into the atmosphere at a speed of about 15,000 miles per hour. Maj. Gen. Donald Yates said that recovery of the cone was not too vital in assaying the results of the firing.

"We can answer most of the questions when we get the results of the telemetry on the flight," he said. "Then we will be awfully close to what we want."

The cone had been equipped with a radio transmitter that apparently failed to function after landing in the ocean.

Scientists were anxious to recover one of the nose cones to determine exactly how it fared against the terrific heat generated by friction in reentering the atmosphere.

Recovery of the mouse, dead or alive, also would give scientists a clue to the effect of cosmic rays on a living organism. That would be a big step toward putting a man into space.

YOUR BABY AND MINE

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

How swiftly the week rolls around and then I try to collect all the short letters and finish the desk cleanup.

Mrs. C. T. — I agree with you that it is a mistake to pay children or bribe them to do homework. This does put an entirely different aspect upon it. If you pay them, they feel that housework has a money value which it does not. As members of a family they have an obligation to work in so far as they are able to do so, to keep a house clean, to help with its work.

If you ask them to do other than ordinary home tasks, then it is all right to say, "I would have had to pay someone else to do this, so I'll pay you the same amount."

Children are so reasonable with us if we are with them and do not take advantage of their age or docility to impose more work, or harder work than they are supposed to do. The other side of the picture is to ask nothing of them, which is an even greater mistake.

Mrs. B.W.—Since you cannot find desirable companions for your children on the street on which you live, you will have to seek them out in surrounding areas. Because your boy will be going to school this fall he is certain to find companions somewhere near and then will not be so dependent on the children next door whom you feel are not the ones with whom he should associate.

It is too drastic a solution to move away. Every neighborhood is apt to have some undesirables in it and to learn to live with them is part of our duty as human beings. Remember you take your own ability to get along with people right along with you into a new neighborhood!

Mrs. P.G.—You say you have had six children and though you are an Rh negative and your husband an Rh positive you have never had any difficulty because of this. There is an understanding now that there are factors even within this combination which make it possible for the mother to fail to build up antibodies against the "foreign" blood of her fetus. But your doctor feels now that with the coming seventh you are manufacturing more antibodies than he considers safe.

You are quite right to put your trust in this doctor who is evidently watching and protecting you and the baby and will continue to do so after the baby is born. Don't listen to your relative who is certainly not as informed as your own doctor.

If you would like our brand new 10-cent booklet "The Mother-To-Be" send a stamped, self-addressed envelope plus 10 cents with your request to Myrtle Meyer Eldred in care of this newspaper.

YOUR BABY AND MINE

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

How swiftly the week rolls around and then I try to collect all the short letters and finish the desk cleanup.

Mrs. C. T. — I agree with you that it is a mistake to pay children or bribe them to do homework. This does put an entirely different aspect upon it. If you pay them, they feel that housework has a money value which it does not. As members of a family they have an obligation to work in so far as they are able to do so, to keep a house clean, to help with its work.

If you ask them to do other than ordinary home tasks, then it is all right to say, "I would have had to pay someone else to do this, so I'll pay you the same amount."

Children are so reasonable with us if we are with them and do not take advantage of their age or docility to impose more work, or harder work than they are supposed to do. The other side of the picture is to ask nothing of them, which is an even greater mistake.

Mrs. B.W.—Since you cannot find desirable companions for your children on the street on which you live, you will have to seek them out in surrounding areas. Because your boy will be going to school this fall he is certain to find companions somewhere near and then will not be so dependent on the children next door whom you feel are not the ones with whom he should associate.

It is too drastic a solution to move away. Every neighborhood is apt to have some undesirables in it and to learn to live with them is part of our duty as human beings. Remember you take your own ability to get along with people right along with you into a new neighborhood!

Mrs. P.G.—You say you have had six children and though you are an Rh negative and your husband an Rh positive you have never had any difficulty because of this. There is an understanding now that there are factors even within this combination which make it possible for the mother to fail to build up antibodies against the "foreign" blood of her fetus. But your doctor feels now that with the coming seventh you are manufacturing more antibodies than he considers safe.

You are quite right to put your trust in this doctor who is evidently watching and protecting you and the baby and will continue to do so after the baby is born. Don't listen to your relative who is certainly not as informed as your own doctor.

If you would like our brand new 10-cent booklet "The Mother-To-Be" send a stamped, self-addressed envelope plus 10 cents with your request to Myrtle Meyer Eldred in care of this newspaper.

A Lemon Squeezed Often Is Considered Garbage

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann: I've had three bottles of beer, but I'm not tight. I may be a little "mellow" but my mind is clear as a bell. I want to say a word to that 50-year-old steno who claims she isn't married because she kept herself pure.

I'm not 50 yet—but I'm getting that way. I'm still single, but it's not because of my good morals. I'm still pounding this typewriter from 9 til 5 because I was the Good Time Tillie of the town. My nickname was "Gopher"—the implication being that I'd gopher anything.

I thought it was cute and I loved being considered a good sport. I was game for a midnight swim, a beer-bust or an all-night Charleston contest.

I was busy and popular, but no one took me seriously. The girls I considered "prissy" (the word today is square) now have kids in high school and I'm still pounding this doggone piece of junk. Like you say, Ann, a lemon who has been squeezed too many times is considered garbage". That's me.—Sorry Now

If you can give me advice on this seemingly hopeless situation I would appreciate it. — The Frazzle

One of the largest and noblest sororities in the world is the band of suffering wives whose husband's mutilate jokes.

Carry on, Old girl. Your regard will be the admiration of friends who can only respect your restraint.

Just before you embark on your next social evening, repeat this little phrase. . .it may help. "If you can't remember 'em—don't dismember 'em".

Dear Ann: My daughter and I are having an argument. She kept a dental appointment in a pair of shorts. I said this was not right. Her excuse: she was with a group of girls from school and they were all wearing shorts and she didn't want to be different. Will you please tell us whether or not it was correct for her to do this?—A.H.M.

Does the dentist have his office on the beach? If so, your daughter was properly attired. Certainly not, however, if his office is in a downtown building.

Dear Ann: My husband doesn't beat me, but sometimes I'd prefer a beating to the torture I endure when we go out with friends.

He thinks he's Bob Hope. I die a thousand deaths when he begins to bore people with his old jokes. He butchers all sorts of dialects, forgets the punch-lines, starts at the end of the joke and murders even the simplest story. It's humilating to sit by and watch him make a fool of himself. I'm amazed at the patience of our friends.

Dear Ann: My sister and I married brothers. This means, of course, that we have the same in-laws.

Everything was fine until three months ago. My sister got into a big fight with her mother-in-law and now they are not speaking. Her husband backed her up.

Next month is my husband's birthday. I've always given him a big party and invited the family. I'm really in a spot now because I know my sister and her husband will not come if I invite his father and mother. I have nothing against them, however, and don't want them to be mad at us. What shall I do?—I.T.M.

Have the party as usual and invite the in-laws, the sister and her husband plus anyone else you would normally ask.

Those who want to come can do so,and those who wish to stay away will let you know. If you permit yourself to become involved in this family meat-grinder the best you will get out of it will be the worst.

Are your parents too strict? You can benefit from the experiences of thousands of teenagers if you read ANN LANDERS' new booklet, "How To Live With Your Parents," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper and enclose a stamped self-addresed envelope.)

QUESTIONS And ANSWERS

Q. — I am redecorating my den and would like to make it appear larger. Can you help me? The colors in the round braided rug are brown, gold, beige, red and green, the Boston rocker is maple and I have a desk that I would like to refinish. What colors should I use for the walls, cafe curtains and a leather chair?

A. — If you paint the walls and the woodwork in your den a light shade of yellow it will make the room appear larger. You could refinish the desk in black lacquer, get the cafe curtains in a red, yellow and black provincial print. Have the leather chair upholstered in red.

Q. — The wallpaper in my large bathroom has a pattern of black mobiles with bits of brown, turquoise and pink on a white background, the wall tile is brown and the floor tile is pink. What colors would you suggest for the shower curtain, window curtains, rug and towels?

A. — For the shower curtain in your bathroom I suggest turquoise for the window curtains, pink: the rug, champagne; the towels, rose and aqua.

Q. — What colors would be good for my living room and adjoining dining room? One wall is paneled in redwood. What colors should I make the other walls and draperies? The sectional sofa is toast, the odd chair is emerald green and the dining - room furniture and television set are limed oak. Also, I am planning to buy some lamp tables and a coffee table, but cannot decide what they should be.

A. — Sandalwood would be perfect for the walls of your living room and adjoining dining room. For the draperies use a pattern in terra cotta on a beige background. Why not get the lamp tables in limed oak and for variety a coffee table with a marble top and brass legs?

Q. — I am planning to paint the walls of my living room and get wall - to - wall carpeting and would like some suggestions as I think that the room needs more color. There is a large fireplace in the room. The draperies I have and would like to use have a modern pattern in black, raspberry, and gold on a white background, the sofa is upholstered in aqua, one chair in black, the other in raspberry and the tables are blond oak.

Olla Pinewood Garden Club Holds Meeting

The July meeting of the Olla Pinewood Garden Club was held in the James P. Kiper home with Mrs. Kiper and Mrs. Glenn H. Ledbetter, hostesses.

Guests were greeted with dainty refreshments after which the club president, Mrs. Bennie M. Zeagler presented H. G. Gaddis, LaSalle Parish Farm Agent, who gave important information on how to receive the greatest return for effort in landscaping and plant growth by improving the soil. This included how to make compost; that fertilizer must be bought by analysis instead of by brand name; how to apply commercial fertilizer and how to prevent soil from washing.

In the business meeting plans were made to order bulbs to grow for the home bulb flower show in March 1959.

In appraising the designs brought by a few of the club members, Mrs. Walter E. Dorroh's red triangular design of red gladioli and Mrs. Jewell McCartney's mass design of marigolds won highest approval.

Mrs. H. S. Coleman Jr. won the door prize, a pot containing a variety of growing plants brought by Mrs. Ledbetter from Florida.

Attending were Mrs. H. S. Coleman, Jr., Mrs. H. C. Cooksey, Jr., Mrs. J. T. Cupples, Mrs. Walter Dorroh, Mrs. Ida Finlay, Mrs. Charles R. Gaines, Miss Lottie Holloway, Mrs. Jewel McCartney, Mrs. H. Doctors Visit British Queen

LONDON (AP) — Queen Elizabeth II, who is suffering from catarrhal sinusitis, was visited at Buckingham Palace Friday by her physicians.

The three physicians have been paying regular calls since her illness developed more than two weeks ago. Thursday night they carried out a second irrigation of the affected sinus.

Some British papers described the two irrigations as minor operations, but official bulletins from the palace do not use the word operation.

The Queen's temperature has been normal and her condition continues to improve, the palace reported Thursday night.

Khrush Says Sixth Fleet Easy Target

CAIRO (UPI)—The editor of the Cairo newspaper Al Ahram Friday quoted Soviet Premire Nikita S. Khrushchev as saying that the U.S. Sixth fleet in the Mediterranean could be easily destroyed and turned into "molten steel coffins" by Russian weapons.

Editor Mohammed Hasseinin Heikal, who accompanied United Arab Republic President Gamal Abdel Nasser on Nasser's secret trip to Moscow after the U.S. troop landings in Lebanon, reported remarks by Khrushchev in his paper.

According to Heikal, who often acts as an unofficial spokesman for Nasser, Khrushchev said "we are far stronger than they (the West) ever imagine.

"This Sixth Fleet they are playing with in the Mediterranean like kids and whose command they gave to an exceedingly foolish admiral (Charles R. Brown), how easily it could be destroyed," Khrushchev was quoted.

"But this is a question of arms and we want to be a question of peace, not a question of arms."

Heikal gave an account of the two meetings between Khrushchev and Nasser in Moscow that lasted a total of eight hours. But he did not report the substance of the talks.

He said he "guessed" that Nasser told Khrushchev the U.A.R. would fight "side by side" with the Iraqi Republic if it were attacked.

Heikal said Soviet Security Chief Gen. Ivan Serov planned the U.A.R. president's plane trip home overland for fear a "ship equipped with rockets" would try to shoot him down if he went over the Mediterranean.

VICTIMS SEE SELVES

Hallucination Odd Phenomenon

CHICAGO (AP) — If you really see yourself as others might see you, medicine has a name for it — autoscopic hallucination — but no cure.

This odd phenomenon is not uncommon in literature. It has been described for more than 2,000 years. An early report, about a man who could not go for a walk without seeing his double coming toward him, was attributed to Aristotle.

The romantic theme of the double appears in many 18th and 19th century literary works. But it was first introduced into medical literature only toward the end of the last cenutry.

The subject is discussed in a 22-page article, "Autoscopic Phenomena," by Dr. N. Lukianowicz of Barrow Hospital, Bristol, England, in the August issue of Archives of Neurology and Psychiatry, published by the American Medical Assn.

Dr. Lukianowicz examined psychiatrists' reports of several specific cases in which patients have described the experience of viewing themselves as phantoms, without benefit of mirrors.

One example was the account of a woman who noticed a strange woman in mourning walking ahead of her as she returned home in late afternoon from her husband's funeral.

As she turned on the light in her room and undressed, the other woman did the same. Not particularly disturbed by the hallucination, the woman looked into the face of her companion and recognized herself.

Later, she reported, she had the feeling while seeing the image that it was more alive and warm than herself. As soon as she lay down and went to sleep, the apparition vanished. But she saw it on other occasions.

Dr. Lukianowicz says that there are two main theories about the cause: some irritating process in the brain, and the projection of memory pictures.

He suggests that they may have an element of attempted wish fulfullment, particularly in the case of one man who saw himself conducting an orchestra. The experience usually lasts only a few seconds, he said.

Assignment Argentina

BY ANNE ALLISON

Chapter 22

The fire blazed brightly in the lobby of the small hotel on the Chilean - Argentine border and in its garish light the strain on Don Henderson's face was outlined sharply.

"You're in no condition to discuss anything," Carol replied coldly.

"At least I have the courage to say what I think. Come on, sit down."

Carol obeyed, deciding it was better not to argue with him in his present condition.

"I don't know what goes between you and this high powered Latin pal of yours," Don said unsteadily, "but if you're marrying him for his money you don't have to."

"I'm not marrying him for any reason," Carol protested. "And it's none of your business in any case."

"Oh yes it is, because I'm still in love with you. Why do you think I came to Buenos Aires in the first place? I thought you might change your mind — then I found you'd fallen for Bill Condon. Well, at least he's an American."

Carol rose furiously. "Oh, Don, stop it!"

"Don't get on your high horse," Don advised. "Listen, Carol, I've got the sweetest little racket in North or South America. If it's money you want I'm going to have plenty."

She did not want to hear Don's confession. Somehow it seemed a reflection on herself, that once she had considered marrying this man. But Don was telling her anyway. Explaining how he arranged to "steal" the jewels from wealthy Argentines who needed additional cash from the jewelry's insured value. Don got a cut on the insurance, then when he sold them in New York he split with the owner fifty-fifty.

Carol could stand no more. Turning she ran from the room slamming the door behind her. She was not surprised when she heard a car drive away from the hotel shortly before dawn. Don would regret his confession when he was sober enough to realize what he had done. Neither was she surprised when the Senora reported at breakfast that the strange American was heading for Chile.

Carol explained to Linda and Enrique what she had found out. "Then my suspicions were correct," Enrique said pleased. "I will call the police in Buenos Aires. They can check with the authorities in Chile. Of course his conversation with you is not enough to arrest him. They must find him with the jewels."

The beauty of the country which Carol had enjoyed so much yesterday was shattered. "Let's go back to B. A.," she suggested, still feeling in some way vaguely guilty for Don Henderson's involvement.

Enrique was immediately sympathetic with her mood. "You must not blame yourself," he said as Linda went to pack. "It is my fault. I should not have brought you here."

"I'm glad I found out," Carol insisted. "I just wonder if I'm responsible for it. He said he came to B. A. because of me."

"Nonsense," Enrique Saudia informed her. "If this man had any moral fibre in the first place he would not become a criminal just because you refused to marry him. Forget it, Carol. It will be in the hands of authorities from now on."

The trio took a plane back to Buenos Aires, flying this time over the beautiful snow clad Andes. Here in the unreality of a world twenty thousand feet above the earth Enrique asked Carol for a promise. "I cannot let you return to B. A. — and Bill Condon — without having some kind of understanding," he said with gentle urgency.

"I would not expect that, Carol. But I do want you to consider becoming my wife and give me your answer within a month. Is it too much to ask?"

"And meanwhile you will not even consider marrying anyone else?"

She had to smile. "You mean Bill or Don Henderson?"

Daughter Of Bergman Arrives

An SAS official said Jennie, bareheaded and wearing a flower-print dress, telephoned her mother in London. Miss Bergman flew to London Thursday night from Stockholm after a 10-day holiday with Swedish producer Lars Schmidt, whom she plans to marry. It was believed Jennie would fly to London Saturday to meet her mother.

Permits For Pay TV Put Off For Year

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Federal Communications Commission bowed to a congressional request Friday and put off for a year any granting of permits for pay-as-you-see television.

FCC Chairman John C. Doerfer announced that no subscription TV permits would be granted until the end of the first session of the new Congress. This probably would be late July or early August, 1959.

However, Doerfer said the FCC would accept and process toll TV applications during the next year.

He relayed the commission's decision in a letter to Chairman Oren Harris (D-Ark.) of the House Commerce Committee. Harris had asked the FCC last July 3 "maintain the status quo" on pay TV until his committee could study the issue in 1959 during the first session of the 86th Congress.

A number of bills have been introduced in Congress to prohibit pay-as-you-watch TV.

Harris explained that he had been unable to hold hearings on the question this year because of the pressure of other duties, including his chairmanship of the House influence-investigating subcommittee.

The sectional sofa is toast, the odd chair is emerald green and the dining - room furniture and television set are limed oak. Also, I am planning to buy some lamp tables and a coffee table, but cannot decide what they should be.

A. — Sandalwood would be perfect for the walls of your living room and adjoining dining room. For the draperies use a pattern in terra cotta on a beige background. Why not get the lamp tables in limed oak and for variety a coffee table with a marble top and brass legs?

Q. — I am planning to paint the walls of my living room and get wall - to - wall carpeting and would like some suggestions as I think that the room needs more color. There is a large fireplace in the room. The draperies I have and would like to use have a modern pattern in black, raspberry, and gold on a white background, the sofa is upholstered in aqua, one chair in black, the other in raspberry and the tables are blond oak.

Olla Pinewood Garden Club Holds Meeting

The July meeting of the Olla Pinewood Garden Club was held in the James P. Kiper home with Mrs. Kiper and Mrs. Glenn H. Ledbetter, hostesses.

Guests were greeted with dainty refreshments after which the club president, Mrs. Bennie M. Zeagler presented H. G. Gaddis, LaSalle Parish Farm Agent, who gave important information on how to receive the greatest return for effort in landscaping and plant growth by improving the soil. This included how to make compost; that fertilizer must be bought by analysis instead of by brand name; how to apply commercial fertilizer and how to prevent soil from washing.

In the business meeting plans were made to order bulbs to grow for the home bulb flower show in March 1959.

In appraising the designs brought by a few of the club members, Mrs. Walter E. Dorroh's red triangular design of red gladioli and Mrs. Jewell McCartney's mass design of marigolds won highest approval.

Attending were Mrs. H. S. Coleman, Jr., Mrs. H. C. Cooksey, Jr., Mrs. J. T. Cupples, Mrs. Walter Dorroh, Mrs. Ida Finlay, Mrs. Charles R. Gaines, Miss Lottie Holloway, Mrs. Jewel McCartney, Mrs. H. Vinyard, Mrs. B. M. Zeagler, Mrs. W. H. Carroll, Mrs. E. E. Sims, Mrs. James P. Kiper, and Mrs. Glenn H. Ledbetter.

Doctors Visit British Queen

LONDON (AP) — Queen Elizabeth II, who is suffering from catarrhal sinusitis, was visited at Buckingham Palace Friday by her physicians.

The three physicians have been paying regular calls since her illness developed more than two weeks ago. Thursday night they carried out a second irrigation of the affected sinus.

Some British papers described the two irrigations as minor operations, but official bulletins from the palace do not use the word operation.

The Queen's temperature has been normal and her condition continues to improve, the palace reported Thursday night.

Khrush Says Sixth Fleet Easy Target

CAIRO (UPI)—The editor of the Cairo newspaper Al Ahram Friday quoted Soviet Premire Nikita S. Khrushchev as saying that the U.S. Sixth fleet in the Mediterranean could be easily destroyed and turned into "molten steel coffins" by Russian weapons.

Editor Mohammed Hasseinin Heikal, who accompanied United Arab Republic President Gamal Abdel Nasser on Nasser's secret trip to Moscow after the U.S. troop landings in Lebanon, reported remarks by Khrushchev in his paper.

According to Heikal, who often acts as an unofficial spokesman for Nasser, Khrushchev said "we are far stronger than they (the West) ever imagine.

"This Sixth Fleet they are playing with in the Mediterranean like kids and whose command they gave to an exceedingly foolish admiral (Charles R. Brown), how easily it could be destroyed," Khrushchev was quoted.

"But this is a question of arms and we want to be a question of peace, not a question of arms."

Heikal gave an account of the two meetings between Khrushchev and Nasser in Moscow that lasted a total of eight hours. But he did not report the substance of the talks.

He said he "guessed" that Nasser told Khrushchev the U.A.R. would fight "side by side" with the Iraqi Republic if it were attacked.

Heikal said Soviet Security Chief Gen. Ivan Serov planned the U.A.R. president's plane trip home overland for fear a "ship equipped with rockets" would try to shoot him down if he went over the Mediterranean.

Assignment Argentina

BY ANNE ALLISON

Chapter 22

The fire blazed brightly in the lobby of the small hotel on the Chilean - Argentine border and in its garish light the strain on Don Henderson's face was outlined sharply.

"You're in no condition to discuss anything," Carol replied coldly.

"At least I have the courage to say what I think. Come on, sit down."

Carol obeyed, deciding it was better not to argue with him in his present condition.

"I don't know what goes between you and this high powered Latin pal of yours," Don said unsteadily, "but if you're marrying him for his money you don't have to."

"I'm not marrying him for any reason," Carol protested. "And it's none of your business in any case."

"Oh yes it is, because I'm still in love with you. Why do you think I came to Buenos Aires in the first place? I thought you might change your mind — then I found you'd fallen for Bill Condon. Well, at least he's an American."

Carol rose furiously. "Oh, Don, stop it!"

"Don't get on your high horse," Don advised. "Listen, Carol, I've got the sweetest little racket in North or South America. If it's money you want I'm going to have plenty."

She did not want to hear Don's confession. Somehow it seemed a reflection on herself, that once she had considered marrying this man. But Don was telling her anyway. Explaining how he arranged to "steal" the jewels from wealthy Argentines who needed additional cash from the jewelry's insured value. Don got a cut on the insurance, then when he sold them in New York he split with the owner fifty-fifty.

Carol could stand no more. Turning she ran from the room slamming the door behind her. She was not surprised when she heard a car drive away from the hotel shortly before dawn. Don would regret his confession when he was sober enough to realize what he had done. Neither was she surprised when the Senora reported at breakfast that the strange American was heading for Chile.

Carol explained to Linda and Enrique what she had found out. "Then my suspicions were correct," Enrique said pleased. "I will call the police in Buenos Aires. They can check with the authorities in Chile. Of course his conversation with you is not enough to arrest him. They must find him with the jewels."

The beauty of the country which Carol had enjoyed so much yesterday was shattered. "Let's go back to B. A.," she suggested, still feeling in some way vaguely guilty for Don Henderson's involvement.

Enrique was immediately sympathetic with her mood. "You must not blame yourself," he said as Linda went to pack. "It is my fault. I should not have brought you here."

"I'm glad I found out," Carol insisted. "I just wonder if I'm responsible for it. He said he came to B. A. because of me."

"Nonsense," Enrique Saudia informed her. "If this man had any moral fibre in the first place he would not become a criminal just because you refused to marry him. Forget it, Carol. It will be in the hands of authorities from now on."

The trio took a plane back to Buenos Aires, flying this time over the beautiful snow clad Andes. Here in the unreality of a world twenty thousand feet above the earth Enrique asked Carol for a promise. "I cannot let you return to B. A. — and Bill Condon — without having some kind of understanding," he said with gentle urgency.

"I would not expect that, Carol. But I do want you to consider becoming my wife and give me your answer within a month. Is it too much to ask?"

"And meanwhile you will not even consider marrying anyone else?"

She had to smile. "You mean Bill or Don Henderson?"

"It is not a joke" the Argentine said seriously.

VICTIMS SEE SELVES

Hallucination Odd Phenomenon

CHICAGO (AP) — If you really see yourself as others might see you, medicine has a name for it — autoscopic hallucination — but no cure.

This odd phenomenon is not uncommon in literature. It has been described for more than 2,000 years. An early report, about a man who could not go for a walk without seeing his double coming toward him, was attributed to Aristotle.

The romantic theme of the double appears in many 18th and 19th century literary works. But it was first introduced into medical literature only toward the end of the last cenutry.

The subject is discussed in a 22-page article, "Autoscopic Phenomena," by Dr. N. Lukianowicz of Barrow Hospital, Bristol, England, in the August issue of Archives of Neurology and Psychiatry, published by the American Medical Assn.

Dr. Lukianowicz examined psychiatrists' reports of several specific cases in which patients have described the experience of viewing themselves as phantoms, without benefit of mirrors.

One example was the account of a woman who noticed a strange woman in mourning walking ahead of her as she returned home in late afternoon from her husband's funeral.

As she turned on the light in her room and undressed, the other woman did the same. Not particularly disturbed by the hallucination, the woman looked into the face of her companion and recognized herself.

Later, she reported, she had the feeling while seeing the image that it was more alive and warm than herself. As soon as she lay down and went to sleep, the apparition vanished. But she saw it on other occasions.

Dr. Lukianowicz says that there are two main theories about the cause: some irritating process in the brain, and the projection of memory pictures.

He suggests that they may have an element of attempted wish fulfullment, particularly in the case of one man who saw himself conducting an orchestra. The experience usually lasts only a few seconds, he said.

Daughter Of Bergman Arrives

PRESTWICK, Scotland (UPI)—Ingrid Bergman's 19-year-old daughter Jennie Lindstrom arrived unnoticed from New York Friday aboard a Scandinavian Airlines plane and drove off toward Glasgow.

An SAS official said Jennie, bareheaded and wearing a flower-print dress, telephoned her mother in London. Miss Bergman flew to London Thursday night from Stockholm after a 10-day holiday with Swedish producer Lars Schmidt, whom she plans to marry. It was believed Jennie would fly to London Saturday to meet her mother.

Permits For Pay TV Put Off For Year

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Federal Communications Commission bowed to a congressional request Friday and put off for a year any granting of permits for pay-as-you-see television.

FCC Chairman John C. Doerfer announced that no subscription TV permits would be granted until the end of the first session of the new Congress. This probably would be late July or early August, 1959.

However, Doerfer said the FCC would accept and process toll TV applications during the next year.

He relayed the commission's decision in a letter to Chairman Oren Harris (D-Ark.) of the House Commerce Committee. Harris had asked the FCC last July 3 "maintain the status quo" on pay TV until his committee could study the issue in 1959 during the first session of the 86th Congress.

A number of bills have been introduced in Congress to prohibit pay-as-you-watch TV.

Harris explained that he had been unable to hold hearings on the question this year because of the pressure of other duties, including his chairmanship of the House influence-investigating subcommittee.

New Method Of Auto Tax Told

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — A new system of higher taxes for higher priced automobiles and lower taxes for cheaper models to produce more revenue has been devised by the State Tax Commission.

The new uniform assessment, authorized by the 1958 Legislature to take effect in October, is collected at the time the automobile owner buys a license tag.

All taxes — state, county and city — must be paid on the vehicle before the license tag is issued.

Lawmakers approved the new system because they felt about 25 per cent of the automobile owners in Mississippi were evading the tax.

Tax Commissioner Noel Monaghan told newsmen Friday the new system means generally that owners of lower priced cars will pay less tax than before and owners of higher priced cars will pay more.

"The new tax rate might bring in a lot more money," he added, referring to the intention of the law that the tax would be collected from every car owner.

Another new idea is to break down the tab by make and model of automobile. Heretofore, all models of every make were taxed equally. Under the new system, each model carries a different assessment.

However, all automobiles older than 7 years carry the usual minimum aesessment of $100.

Monaghan said in many cases there is a difference of $2,000 or more in prices of different models of the same make but the tax was the same under the former schedule.

The new law cancels the 1959 assessments, but requires that the 1959 taxes be paid in advance, beginning Oct. 1 this year.

The law also permits county sheriffs to collect the tax for municipalities.

"If you believe in the principal of equalization of taxes, and if you believe that each person should be required to pay his proper share of the taxes, and if you have heretofore paid your share of the taxes," Monaghan said in a statement, "then this plan should meet with your hearty approval because the purpose of this law is to do just that."

He gave this example of the application of the new law:

South Carolin's textile industry produced more than 256 million pounds of print cloth in 1956.

U.S. Officials Mum Following Swiss Incident

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The State Department said Friday that it "sincerely regrets any difficulty or embarrassment" which may have been caused to Switzerland by what it described as an "incident" involving the quoting of U. S. Ambassador Henry J. Taylor concerning Communist spy activities in Switzerland.

A department official said the article in question was a United Press International dispatch last week reporting that Switzerland was a center of Communist and Arab plotting.

They declined to comment on the accuracy or inaccuracy of the dispatch.

Taylor said Thursday in Switzerland that he categorically denied "having made statements attributed to me which were offensive to Switzerland or possibly injurious to the nation."

Lincoln White read the following statement to reporters at his regular midday briefing:

"With reference to the statement Ambassador Henry J. Taylor made in Berne yesterday, the department sincerely regrets any difficulty or embarrassment which may have been caused to a friendly country by this incident."

White declined to explain whether the "incident" referred to the publication of the story, the quoting of Taylor or the embarrassment of the Swiss government.

Other officials also refused to amplify the statement, saying only that they regretted "the whole affair." They said that there was no intention of recalling Taylor home from his post. They noted that the Swiss took very strenuous exception to the article but declined to say whether they believed the Swiss displeasure was justified.

Mathes, 22, was demonstrating his ability in drawing a gun with three youths and later challenged them to join him in a game of Russian roulette.

The pistol twice failed to fire after Mathes spun the chamber and placed it against his temple.

Quits Post Under Fire From Group

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Bernard L. Flanagan of St. Albans, Vt., quit under fire Friday as an interim member of the Civil Service Commission because of what he called his "honest mistakes" on past applications for government jobs.

At Flanagan's request, President Eisenhower withdrew his nomination of Flangan to the commission. He has been serving as a commissioner under a recess appointment for the past seven months.

The 39-year-old Flanagan, a former Capitol Hill policeman, had been sharply criticized by members of the Senate Civil Service Committee for filing misinformation in applying for earlier jobs with a variety of government agencies.

In a letter to the President, Flanagan conceded he "made some mistakes" in filling out applications for jobs with the old Office of Price Stabilization, the Veterans Administration and the General Service Administration.

He said the inaccuracies about his education, past job titles, salaries and other matters "were entirely immaterial" to the jobs held.

"But they have been seized upon and magnified out of all proportion to the question of my ability and fitness to be a civil service commissioner," he said.

Flanagan said he thought "far too much" of the Eisenhower administration "to allow myself to be used for its political harassment."

He also told the President a Senate fight over his nomination would make him "less able in the future to give you, and the commission, service of the very high order called for in this important post."

For these reasons, he said, he "regretfully concluded" that he must ask the President to withdraw the nomination.

The President complied without delay. In a terse note, devoid of the usual Eisenhower expressions of friendship to departing officials the President said:

"Dear Mr. Flanagan:

"As you requested in your letter of July 24, I am today withdrawing your nomination to be a member of the Civil Service Commission. I take this opportunity to thank you for your service as a member of the commission under your recess appointment."

Bigger And Better Rice Is Forseen

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — RICE—Asia's staff of life—soon may grow bigger and better than ever.

And for this millions of Asians may someday thank their aching backs—and a pioneering University of Michigan botanist named Peter B. Kaufman.

Kaufman says he has discovered a way to double the normal height of rice. It's untested as yet, and a long way from being put into use in Asia. But someday it may ease the strain on rice harvesters' backs.

Today's Asian harvesters must bend far over to pluck their basic food from the murky, brown paddies. They snip the two-foot-high stalks off about five inches above the ground.

But Kaufman believes his discovery will grow plants four feet tall. This would ease the back strain on pickers, as most edible rice grows on the higher part of the stem.

But no way has been found to help the aching backs of the planters. They still would have to lean over and dig their seed-laden hands into the mud.

Kaufman's method of stem elongation stems from research of a fungus that normally attacks rice. The fungus causes what Japanese scientists term "the foolish seedling disease." It makes the plant grow too fast, distorting leaves, weakening stems and toppling plants.

Kaufman, using information garnered by the Japanese, has taken gibberellic acid from the fungus and used it to control the growth of rice.

Kaufman says the acid has several byproduct effects also, such as restoring the normal height plants stunted by radiation.

Man Kills Woman Then Shoots Self

PORT ALLEN, La. (AP) — A lover's spat erupted into violence when a 36-year-old ex-state trooper killed his waitress girl friend with a barrage of bullets, saving the last shot for himself.

Dr. Paul Landry Sr., West Baton Rouge Parish coroner, said Emmanual J. (Johnny) Gomez and Helen (Mickey) Wilkinson both died almost instantly. He ruled it murder and suicide.

The shooting took place Thursday night at a cafe just west of the Mississippi River bridge on U. S. 190.

Gomez left a wife and two childeen in Plaquemine. Mrs. Wilkinson, a widow originally from Amite, had two sons living in McComb, Miss. Her married name was Mrs. Helen Callender.

State Trooper M. M. Harshman was seated less than 20 feet away eating a sandwich. ". . .I didn't hear any argument that sounded like trouble," he told the coroner's inquest.

At the sound of the first shots, the trooper said he saw Gomez leaning over the table with his right arm extended, a pistol in his hand.

He shot her a couple of times as she lay on the floor," Harshman said, "and without any hesitation, he grabbed the barrel of the pistol with his left hand, put it against his right temple and fired.

"He slumped back in the chair in a sitting position with his left arm extended and resting on the table."

Harshman said the shots were so close together it was impossible to say how many were fired. A check showed the gun held six empty shells. Mrs. Wilkinson was shot three times.

Miss Lou Britt, the dead woman's sister-in-law, said she was seated at the table with the couple when the argument began.

"Do you love me?" asked Gomez calmly.

"No," replied Mrs. Wilkinson. "Not after the way you treated me last night."

"If that's the way you want it, all right," Miss Britt said Gomez snapped. He got up from the table and went into the cafe kitchen.

Miss Britt said her sister-in-law told her in a calm voice, "Johnny's going to get a gun."

Then, Miss Britt said, she became frightened and "tried to get out of there."

Blast Causes Probed After 6 Explosions

BELLEVILLE, Ill. (UPI)— A "do it yourself" householder may have hooked up the wrong pipes that sent propane gas into water lines and set off blasts that sent thousands of persons fleeing from their homes, authorities said Friday.

The series of at least six explosions Thursday apparently stemmed from propane gas which seeped into water mains and blew up in nearby homes and restaurants. Four persons were injured.

New Method Of Auto Tax Told

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — A new system of higher taxes for higher priced automobiles and lower taxes for cheaper models to produce more revenue has been devised by the State Tax Commission.

All taxes — state, county and city — must be paid on the vehicle before the license tag is issued.

Tax Commissioner Noel Monaghan told newsmen Friday the new system means generally that owners of lower priced cars will pay less tax than before and owners of higher priced cars will pay more.

"The new tax rate might bring in a lot more money," he added, referring to the intention of the law that the tax would be collected from every car owner.

Another new idea is to break down the tab by make and model of automobile. Heretofore, all models of every make were taxed equally. Under the new system, each model carries a different assessment.

However, all automobiles older than 7 years carry the usual minimum aesessment of $100.

Monaghan said in many cases there is a difference of $2,000 or more in prices of different models of the same make but the tax was the same under the former schedule.

The new law cancels the 1959 assessments, but requires that the 1959 taxes be paid in advance, beginning Oct. 1 this year.

The law also permits county sheriffs to collect the tax for municipalities.

"If you believe in the principal of equalization of taxes, and if you believe that each person should be required to pay his proper share of the taxes, and if you have heretofore paid your share of the taxes," Monaghan said in a statement, "then this plan should meet with your hearty approval because the purpose of this law is to do just that."

He gave this example of the application of the new law:

South Carolin's textile industry produced more than 256 million pounds of print cloth in 1956.

U.S. Officials Mum Following Swiss Incident

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The State Department said Friday that it "sincerely regrets any difficulty or embarrassment" which may have been caused to Switzerland by what it described as an "incident" involving the quoting of U S. Ambassador Henry J. Taylor concerning Communist spy activities in Switzerland.

A department official said the article in question was a United Press International dispatch last week reporting that Switzerland was a center of Communist and Arab plotting.

They declined to comment on the accuracy or inaccuracy of the dispatch.

Taylor said Thursday in Switzerland that he categorically denied "having made statements attributed to me which were offensive to Switzerland or possibly injurious to the nation."

Lincoln White read the following statement to reporters at his regular midday briefing:

"With reference to the statement Ambassador Henry J. Taylor made in Berne yesterday, the department sincerely regrets any difficulty or embarrassment which may have been caused to a friendly country by this incident."

White declined to explain whether the "incident" referred to the publication of the story, the quoting of Taylor or the embarrassment of the Swiss government.

Other officials also refused to amplify the statement, saying only that they regretted "the whole affair." They said that there was no intention of recalling Taylor home from his post. They noted that the Swiss took very strenuous exception to the article but declined to say whether they believed the Swiss displeasure was justified.

Shoots Self In Head, Dies

MINDEN, La. (AP) — Service station attendant E. E. Mathes Jr. defied the odds in a game of Russian roulette today and died with a bullet wound of the head.

Mathes, 22, was demonstrating his ability in drawing a gun with three youths and later challenged them to join him in a game of Russian roulette.

The pistol twice failed to fire after Mathes spun the chamber and placed it against his temple.

It fired on the third try and Mathes died four hours later.

Quits Post Under Fire From Group

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Bernard L. Flanagan of St. Albans, Vt., quit under fire Friday as an interim member of the Civil Service Commission because of what he called his "honest mistakes" on past applications for government jobs.

At Flanagan's request, President Eisenhower withdrew his nomination of Flangan to the commission. He has been serving as a commissioner under a recess appointment for the past seven months.

The 39-year-old Flanagan, a former Capitol Hill policeman, had been sharply criticized by members of the Senate Civil Service Committee for filing misinformation in applying for earlier jobs with a variety of government agencies.

In a letter to the President, Flanagan conceded he "made some mistakes" in filling out applications for jobs with the old Office of Price Stabilization, the Veterans Administration and the General Service Administration.

He said the inaccuracies about his education, past job titles, salaries and other matters "were entirely immaterial" to the jobs held.

"But they have been seized upon and magnified out of all proportion to the question of my ability and fitness to be a civil service commissioner," he said.

Flanagan said he thought "far too much" of the Eisenhower administration "to allow myself to be used for its political harassment."

He also told the President a Senate fight over his nomination would make him "less able in the future to give you, and the commission, service of the very high order called for in this important post."

For these reasons, he said, he "regretfully concluded" that he must ask the President to withdraw the nomination.

The President complied without delay. In a terse note, devoid of the usual Eisenhower expressions of friendship to departing officials the President said:

"Dear Mr. Flanagan:

"As you requested in your letter of July 24, I am today withdrawing your nomination to be a member of the Civil Service Commission. I take this opportunity to thank you for your service as a member of the commission under your recess appointment."

Bigger And Better Rice Is Forseen

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — RICE—Asia's staff of life—soon may grow bigger and better than ever.

And for this millions of Asians may someday thank their aching backs—and a pioneering University of Michigan botanist named Peter B. Kaufman.

Kaufman says he has discovered a way to double the normal height of rice. It's untested as yet, and a long way from being put into use in Asia. But someday it may ease the strain on rice harvesters' backs.

Today's Asian harvesters must bend far over to pluck their basic food from the murky, brown paddies. They snip the two-foot-high stalks off about five inches above the ground.

But Kaufman believes his discovery will grow plants four feet tall. This would ease the back strain on pickers, as most edible rice grows on the higher part of the stem.

But no way has been found to help the aching backs of the planters. They still would have to lean over and dig their seed-laden hands into the mud.

Kaufman's method of stem elongation stems from research of a fungus that normally attacks rice. The fungus causes what Japanese scientists term "the foolish seedling disease." It makes the plant grow too fast, distorting leaves, weakening stems and toppling plants.

Kaufman, using information garnered by the Japanese, has taken gibberellic acid from the fungus and used it to control the growth of rice.

Kaufman says the acid has several byproduct effects also, such as restoring the normal height plants stunted by radiation.

PORT ALLEN

Man Kills Woman Then Shoots Self

PORT ALLEN, La. (AP) — A lover's spat erupted into violence when a 36-year-old ex-state trooper killed his waitress girl friend with a barrage of bullets, saving the last shot for himself.

Dr. Paul Landry Sr., West Baton Rouge Parish coroner, said Emmanual J. (Johnny) Gomez and Helen (Mickey) Wilkinson both died almost instantly. He ruled it murder and suicide.

The shooting took place Thursday night at a cafe just west of the Mississippi River bridge on U. S. 190.

Gomez left a wife and two childeen in Plaquemine. Mrs. Wilkinson, a widow originally from Amite, had two sons living in McComb, Miss. Her married name was Mrs. Helen Callender.

State Trooper M. M. Harshman was seated less than 20 feet away eating a sandwich. ". . .I didn't hear any argument that sounded like trouble," he told the coroner's inquest.

At the sound of the first shots, the trooper said he saw Gomez leaning over the table with his right arm extended, a pistol in his hand.

He shot her a couple of times as she lay on the floor," Harshman said, "and without any hesitation, he grabbed the barrel of the pistol with his left hand, put it against his right temple and fired.

"He slumped back in the chair in a sitting position with his left arm extended and resting on the table."

Harshman said the shots were so close together it was impossible to say how many were fired. A check showed the gun held six empty shells. Mrs. Wilkinson was shot three times.

Miss Lou Britt, the dead woman's sister-in-law, said she was seated at the table with the couple when the argument began.

"Do you love me?" asked Gomez calmly.

"No," replied Mrs. Wilkinson. "Not after the way you treated me last night."

"If that's the way you want it, all right," Miss Britt said Gomez snapped. He got up from the table and went into the cafe kitchen.

Miss Britt said her sister-in-law told her in a calm voice, "Johnny's going to get a gun."

Then, Miss Britt said, she became frightened and "tried to get out of there."

Blast Causes Probed After 6 Explosions

BELLEVILLE, Ill. (UPI)— A "do it yourself" householder may have hooked up the wrong pipes that sent propane gas into water lines and set off blasts that sent thousands of persons fleeing from their homes, authorities said Friday.

The series of at least six explosions Thursday apparently stemmed from propane gas which seeped into water mains and blew up in nearby homes and restaurants. Four persons were injured.

Canal Offered For Sale In S. La. Parish

BATON ROUGE (AP) — Anybody want to buy a canal? The Louisiana Highway Department has one for sale in Jefferson Parish.

Of course, the canal is closed to navigation because a road runs over one end of it.

Highway Director R. B. Richardson said bids will be received here Aug. 27 for the Westwego canal, a land tract averaging 192 feet wide and about 1.2 miles long.

He said about half of the approximately 29 acres contain the canal.

The Highway Department bought the canal in 1955 from private owners to use a portion of the area in extending its west bank expressway.

At the time, highway engineers said it would cost less to buy the entire canal, close it to navigation and use a landfill as a crossing than it would to build either a fixed high level bridge or a movable span.

IGY CALLED TOO SHORT

MOSCOW (UPI)—The Soviet Union announced Friday it will ask for a 12-month extension of the International Geophysical Year program. The Communist Party newspaper Pravda said the Soviet IGY committee felt the 18-month geophysical year ending Dec. 31 was too short for the amount of work still to be done.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Demonstration By Reds Staged

NEW DELHI (UPI)— Some 1,500 Indian Communist Party members and other leftists demonstrated outside the U.S Embassy here Friday against American troops in Lebanon.

Demonstration leaders handed the embassy a memorandum condemning U.S. policy and actions in the Middle East. A heavy police guard protected the embassy from violence or damage.

Canal Offered For Sale In S. La. Parish

BATON ROUGE (AP) — Anybody want to buy a canal? The Louisiana Highway Department has one for sale in Jefferson Parish.

Of course, the canal is closed to navigation because a road runs over one end of it.

Highway Director R. B. Richardson said bids will be received here Aug. 27 for the Westwego canal, a land tract averaging 192 feet wide and about 1.2 miles long.

He said about half of the approximately 29 acres contain the canal.

The Highway Department bought the canal in 1955 from private owners to use a portion of the area in extending its west bank expressway.

At the time, highway engineers said it would cost less to buy the entire canal, close it to navigation and use a landfill as a crossing than it would to build either a fixed high level bridge or a movable span.

IGY CALLED TOO SHORT

MOSCOW (UPI)—The Soviet Union announced Friday it will ask for a 12-month extension of the International Geophysical Year program. The Communist Party newspaper Pravda said the Soviet IGY committee felt the 18-month geophysical year ending Dec. 31 was too short for the amount of work still to be done.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

NCERNS CASES

Code Of Ethics Adopted By SEC

SHINGTON (UPI)—The Se- es & Exchange Commission ed a code of ethics Friday would have the effect of nting SEC members from ssing pending cases with the House or any executive y.

Chairman Edward N. Gads- id the code did not represent w set of rules but rather "a ete statement of the princi- which it has always believed cable."

e new canon specified that members in performing their ial functions "should avoid ission of a matter with any on outside this commission its staff while that matter is ing."

e rule said, however, that bers of the commission have luty to solicit the views of in- sted persons."

wo Goldfine firms controlled the New England textile mag- were in hot water with the for failure to file required ual financial statements. Gold- 's companies eventually were en to federal court and the es were settled for $3,000.

dams and officials of the SEC tified that the President's top istant made no attempt to ay the commission's decision in case, however.

he SEC rules affect only mem- s of the commission. They re described as supplementing rall "conduct regulations" ich. have been in effect for ars and which prescribe stand- ds of conduct for members, em- yes and former employes appearing before the commission.

These overall regulations forbid members and employes to "accept, directly or indirectly, any valuable gift, favor of service from any person with whom he transacts business on behalf of the United States."

ommittee Votes Hike n Subsidies

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The ouse Ways & Means Committee oted Friday to increase federal ubsidies for needy persons on tate-operated relief rolls at an stimated cost of more than 280 illion dollars a year.

The provision was written into bill which also would provide 7 per cent increase in social ecurity benefits to be financed hrough higher taxes on both em- loyes and employers, effective Jan. 1.

The completed measure, which as strong bipartisan support, will be introduced in the House Mon- day by committee Chairman Wil- bur D. Mills (D-Ark.) and Rep. Daniel Reed (N.Y.) senior Repub- lican member.

It will get the committee's final stamp of approval a few hours later and may be pushed through the House before the end of next week. House backers figure it has a good chance of clearing the Senate despite the congressional adjournment rush.

If the measure should be signed into law next month, persons on the social security rolls would receive the increased benefits in their check for the November payment, which is delivered in December.

The relief provision tacked on Friday would liberalize the federal-state public assistance program under which payments are made to the needy aged, blind, and disabled persons and to needy dependent children.

This program includes needy old folks who have no social security benefits or whose benefits are inadequate to take care of them.

Under the committee bill, states which pay as much as $66 a month to relief recipients would get a minimum federal contribution of $42 and a maximum of $49.20. The maximum federal contribution now is $39 a month.

Stocks Hit Another Peak In Big Day

NEW YORK (AP)—Buying power pushed stock market volume to its biggest daily total of the year Friday as the list raced to another peak for 1958.

Volume swelled to 4,430,000 shares compared with 3,740,000 Thursday and was the heaviest since 5,070,000 shares were traded in the year end session of Dec. 31.

The price rise was equivalent to Thursday's, adding an estimated 1½ billion dollars to the quoted value of stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange, based on the rise in The Associated Press average.

The 1,230 issues traded made Friday's the broadest market of the year, reflecting widespread investment and speculative interest.

Eight of the 15 most active stocks were lower - priced issues, reflecting heightened speculative interest. Three of the market leaders were distillers. These stocks staged a rally of their own late in the day on news that the Senate Finance Committee had voted to lengthen the tax-free liquor bonding period from the present eight years to 20 years.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose $1.20 to its new '58 peak of $182.70, putting the average at its highest level since last Aug. 5. The industrials rose $2.50 and the rails 20 cents, each to new highs for the year, and the utilities rose 30 cents.

Of the stocks traded 703 rose and 293 fell. New highs for the year totaled 219. There were 5 new lows.

Fourteen of the 15 most active stocks rose and one dropped.

American Stock Exchange prices, advanced on volume of 1,030,000 shares compared with 870,000 Thursday.

Paratroopers, Marines Fight

BEIRUT (UPI)—A group of U.S. Marines and paratroopers bore the scars Friday of their biggest battle to date in Lebanon—a strictly inter-service affair.

The free-for-all apparently developed when a jeepload of Marines near Beirut's International Airport sounded off their opinion of the paratroopers' fighting qualities and manliness.

Arabs Protest Planes Flying Around Syria

CAIRO (UPI)—The United Arab Republic protested formally to the United States Friday against alleged violation of Syrian airspace by American planes, the Cairo radio reported.

Thursday, Radio Damascus announced that Syrian anti-aircraft batteries had fired on two unidentified jet planes that flew over Syrian territory from the direction of Lebanon and that one of them was hit and crashed in flames in Lebanese territory.

(Officials of the American forces in Beirut, Lebanon, said no American planes were missing.)

Cairo radio said the U.A.R. also protested against the American "buzzing" of Egyptian and Syrian airliners on the Cairo-Damascus route.

The Cairo radio announcement said Permanent Foreign Undersecretary Hussein Aziz summoned U.S. Ambassador Raymond Hare to the Foreign Ministry and "handed him a note protesting against United States buzzing Misrair and Syrian Airlines planes on several occasions during normal flights from Cairo to Damascus and vice versa."

CONCERNS CASES

Code Of Ethics Adopted By SEC

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Securities & Exchange Commission adopted a code of ethics Friday which would have the effect of preventing SEC members from discussing pending cases with the White House or any executive agency.

SEC Chairman Edward N. Gadsby said the code did not represent a new set of rules but rather "a concrete statement of the principles which it has always believed applicable."

The new canon specified that SEC members in performing their judicial functions "should avoid discussion of a matter with any person outside this commission and its staff while that matter is pending."

The rule said, however, that members of the commission have "a duty to solicit the views of interested persons."

During the current scrutiny of regulatory agencies, House influence investigators heard testimony that Sherman Adams, President Eisenhower's top aide, communicated with the SEC three times regarding matters involving his good friend, Bernard Goldfine.

Two Goldfine firms controlled by the New England textile magnate were in hot water with the SEC for failure to file required annual financial statements. Goldfine's companies eventually were taken to federal court and the cases were settled for $3,000.

Adams and officials of the SEC testified that the President's top assistant made no attempt to sway the commission's decision in the case, however.

The SEC rules affect only members of the commission. They were described as supplementing overall "conduct regulations" which have been in effect for years and which prescribe standards of conduct for members, employes and former employes appearing before the commission.

These overall regulations forbid members and employes to "accept, directly or indirectly, any valuable gift, favor of service from any person with whom he transacts business on behalf of the United States."

Committee Votes Hike In Subsidies

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Ways & Means Committee voted Friday to increase federal subsidies for needy persons on state-operated relief rolls at an estimated cost of more than 280 million dollars a year.

The provision was written into a bill which also would provide a 7 per cent increase in social security benefits to be financed through higher taxes on both employes and employers, effective Jan. 1.

The completed measure, which has strong bipartisan support, will be introduced in the House Monday by committee Chairman Wilbur D. Mills (D-Ark.) and Rep. Daniel Reed (N.Y.) senior Republican member.

It will get the committee's final stamp of approval a few hours later and may be pushed through the House before the end of next week. House backers figure it has a good chance of clearing the Senate despite the congressional adjournment rush.

If the measure should be signed into law next month, persons on the social security rolls would receive the increased benefits in their check for the November payment, which is delivered in December.

The relief provision tacked on Friday would liberalize the federal-state public assistance program under which payments are made to the needy aged, blind, and disabled persons and to needy dependent children.

This program includes needy old folks who have no social security benefits or whose benefits are inadequate to take care of them.

Under the committee bill, states which pay as much as $66 a month to relief recipients would get a minimum federal contribution of $42 and a maximum of $49.20. The maximum federal contribution now is $39 a month.

Stocks Hit Another Peak In Big Day

NEW YORK (AP)—Buying power pushed stock market volume to its biggest daily total of the year Friday as the list raced to another peak for 1958.

Volume swelled to 4,430,000 shares compared with 3,740,000 Thursday and was the heaviest since 5,070,000 shares were traded in the year end session of Dec. 31.

The price rise was equivalent to Thursday's, adding an estimated 1½ billion dollars to the quoted value of stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange, based on the rise in The Associated Press average.

The 1,230 issues traded made Friday's the broadest market of the year, reflecting widespread investment and speculative interest.

Eight of the 15 most active stocks were lower - priced issues, reflecting heightened speculative interest. Three of the market leaders were distillers. These stocks staged a rally of their own late in the day on news that the Senate Finance Committee had voted to lengthen the tax-free liquor bonding period from the present eight years to 20 years.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose $1.20 to its new '58 peak of $182.70, putting the average at its highest level since last Aug. 5. The industrials rose $2.50 and the rails 20 cents, each to new highs for the year, and the utilities rose 30 cents.

Of the stocks traded 703 rose and 293 fell. New highs for the year totaled 219. There were 5 new lows.

Fourteen of the 15 most active stocks rose and one dropped.

American Stock Exchange prices, advanced on volume of 1,030,000 shares compared with 870,000 Thursday.

Paratroopers, Marines Fight

BEIRUT (UPI)—A group of U.S. Marines and paratroopers bore the scars Friday of their biggest battle to date in Lebanon—a strictly inter-service affair.

The free-for-all apparently developed when a jeepload of Marines near Beirut's International Airport sounded off their opinion of the paratroopers' fighting qualities and manliness.

Arabs Protest Planes Flying Around Syria

CAIRO (UPI)—The United Arab Republic protested formally to the United States Friday against alleged violation of Syrian airspace by American planes, the Cairo radio reported.

Thursday, Radio Damascus announced that Syrian anti-aircraft batteries had fired on two unidentified jet planes that flew over Syrian territory from the direction of Lebanon and that one of them was hit and crashed in flames in Lebanese territory.

(Officials of the American forces in Beirut, Lebanon, said no American planes were missing.)

Cairo radio said the U.A.R. also protested against the American "buzzing" of Egyptian and Syrian airliners on the Cairo-Damascus route.

The Cairo radio announcement said Permanent Foreign Undersecretary Hussein Aziz summoned U.S. Ambassador Raymond Hare to the Foreign Ministry and "handed him a note protesting against United States buzzing Misrair and Syrian Airlines planes on several occasions during normal flights from Cairo to Damascus and vice versa."

COTTON

NEW YORK (AP) — Cotton futures closed 30 cents to $3.50 a bale lower Friday featured by heavy liquidation in distant 1959 crop deliveries.

Selling was touched off by increasing sentiment among traders that the administration will get a farm bill from Congress it can accept. In the case of cotton the administration's objective is larger acreage and lower support prices to make cotton more competitive.

Distant months have risen more than one cent a pound during the first half of July on views that farm legislation was unlikely this year. Therefore they were vulnerable to the selling Friday with only light buying support in evidence.

Current crop months were unsettled also but losses were comparatively small. Pressure there was not severe and trade buying helped to hold nearby positions on an even keel.

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Distant cotton futures contracts declined as much as $3.40 a bale here today on liquidation. The liquidation was attributed to a growing belief that the Senate will act favorably upon an administration-approved farm bill tonight.

COTTON LETTER

Courtesy of Merrill, Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith

The Senate was expected to vote on the Omnibus Farm Bill yesterday afternoon. Most of the attempts for major amendments were defeated and the probability of the bill passing the Senate in around its present form has increased.

House agriculture chairman Cooley said his committee will report out a bill similar to that of the Senate and the chances of new legislation have improved considerably.

This news provided the pattern for new crop months, resulting in declines of 75 points for new October and December.

July was strongly influenced while near months held relatively well, losing only a few points.

There appeared to be sizable price fixing in March and May on behalf of mills near the close. A leading New Orleans commission house liquidated in the vicinity of 25,000 bales of new crop.

The USDA states it has paid out more than one billion dollars in its cotton export program for the past two and half years to send 1.9 billion dollars worth of cotton overseas.

Losses are estimated at around 900 million dollars during that period. This does not include the cost of subsidizing exports of cotton textiles, nor the huge indirect cost to the consumer in higher prices.

BUSINESS HIGHLIGHTS

LIQUOR BONDING

The Senate Finance Committee voted to lengthen the tax-free liquor bonding period from the present 8 years to 20 years and to make the longer period apply to existing stocks as well as future stocks. The action was a major victory for Schenley Industries.

INVESTMENT INTERVENTION

A Federal Communications Commission examiner gave the green light to investment industry intervention in the long - range study of American Telephone & Telegraph and Western Union rates and practices. CAR OUTPUT

Ward's Automotive reports said U.S. car and truck producers turned out the three millionth vehicle of 1958 this week. At this time a year ago they produced 4,454,200 vehicles.

LIVESTOCK

CHICAGO (AP)—The top price for butcher hogs was $23.75 again Friday for the third consecutive day but it went for only 21 head of No. 1 grade weighing 210 lbs. The market was steady to 25 cents higher with the advance on weights over 230 lbs.

Buyers paid $23.25-23.50 for several lots of mixed 1-2 grades in the 200-225 lb range and $23-23.25 for 190-260 lb mixed 1s and 2s. A few heavier weights moved at $22.25-23 and the sows at $18.25-[illegible]

Slaughter steer offerings were meager and included nothing better than low choice grade but the market was steady with the week's advance. The good and low choice kinds sold at $25.25-26.25, the top, and a few standard to low good at $23.50-25.

The few good and choice vealers brought $28-31 with prices steady to weak. Only a few heifers were on sale. They graded good and moved at $25.50 while utility to low commercial bulls went at $22-23.75.

The market for spring slaughter lambs was quotably steady but offerings were too scant to make a thorough test of prices. A few good and choice brought $22-24 and the cull to choice shorn slaughter ewes $5-7.

WOOL LETTER

Courtesy of Merrill, Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith

The market showed little price change most of the session yesterday but small short covering prior to the weekend near the close raised values slightly.

Trade was on both sides of the market with professionals remaining on the side lines. Volume, however was light and there was little outside news.

Offering prices of raw wool in Boston are up moderately from recent lows, but activity remains slow.

An Australian selling broker stated that 1958-59 Australian clip, which will be offered starting this September, will be generally inferior and smaller than in past seasons.

Drouth conditions are responsible. Early offerings are not expected to be in real good demand due to quality.
